ABOUT THE BOOK'S GRAMMAR

The notes given in this book are a part of the servant's personal experiences and training, lacking perfect grammar and extensive editing to keep a more authentic presentation of actual training events. Sometimes, Yahweh doesn't say "an" when needed but would use an "a." It's not a grammatical error but a note of the actual way spoken.

ABOUT SERVANT SEERSGATE

Susanna (called Seersgate by Yahweh) is a world-level hearing and seeing prophet who engages in conversations with Yahweh, given delegated governing to carry a mantle that operates in the work sphere as if a prophet of old. She spent ten of her thirty years of novice training in a spiritual cave under Yahweh's plan. Throughout her novice training, Seersgate tasted different levels of spiritual engagement with angels and demons in tester work environments.

As Yahweh leads, this work with the Great Holy Spirit will include demonstrations of creative miracles, wisdom, judgment, and experiential learning. We will publish messages, teachings, and training material without reservation to build up Yahweh's Church.

A SPECIAL NOTE ABOUT THE BOOK

This book does not contain vile teachings that would take a person away from holiness in Yahweh to live and walk in sinful dealings. The material contained in this book is appropriate for those ages 16 and above and does not provide crude talk of sexual positions or offer sexually graphic descriptions. Instead, Yahweh gives a way to gain wisdom in dealing with sexual matters to equip the Body of Christ and those interested in learning Yahweh's way in these private matters.

LIVING TODAY

FORCED PORNOGRAPHY

February 6, 2025

4:42 p.m.

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

I hear a woman sobbing, wondering why she did that action and showed her naked body to all who would look. Her pain was not revealed when she first took off her fur coat, but moments within, there was great pain.

Who can stop another from displaying their naked body in your presence? Well, some laws prohibit such action. But surely, should all in the world feel forced to look due to how you break off and take on actions that can hurt the way a society operates? Taking off clothing in the privacy of your own home is in your personal space/territory and does not bring your morals upon others.

Even though events can be private, should a nationalized private event be permitted to strip morals? Should a private event let those who attend strip away their clothing?

“But it’s a private event.”

It’s no longer a private matter when a person forces innocent viewers not invited to that event to partake in their lowering of morals. When the public is involved in viewing what happens on the grounds of that private event, the statutes used in the private gathering must expand to take on the boundaries and restrictions required at a public gathering, where taking off one’s clothing and displaying nudity is inappropriate. Breaking these basic guidelines on public nudity would be rather harmful, rude, and embarrassing to those caught off guard and hurtful to those who felt safe to be near you.

What remains of that person who strips off their clothing to show their naked way to others? When a person shows their naked way, they remove all the mystery, and the person has nothing left to offer to the stranger who takes a crude look. And to that significant other who approves of their loved one displaying their naked way is not walking in true love. Rather, the throwing away of that person is on display, showing strangers that there is no treasure present but a worthless soul in their perception.

But Yahweh does not yield to this way of living. Yahweh wants those who serve Him to move in modest ways, yielding a display of one's naked body to one's own husband or wife, not to strangers, for shock value. People take looks to observe how foolish one would be to think it is okay to display one's self in worthless stunts. And then tomorrow, your name will be the butt of cocktail jokes. But woman, I see that you are institutionalized in his way, for the person who coaxed your way to take on that stunt previously returned to serving Satan and is now filled up with seven levels of demons than when he went to seek Yahweh.

You are drinking that man's way, and now you beg us who live in the way of private living to partake in the torture you are living in. What say you?

IS GOD WATCHING YOU IN SEXUAL DETAILS?

SEERSGATE LEADS IT:

Is God watching you in sexual details?

Well, is God watching you engage in any sexual contact? Would you think that sex can be fun even while Yahweh looks on? God will not hide in shame, as if He has not created your entire cellular structure. God is not like your parent. He will not judge your heart for wanting to make passionate love to your spouse. He lovingly encourages tender rubbing and touching, rough play without harming your spouse.

Your sex act is pure in God's eyes when Yahweh is the Head of what takes place. When God watches, He is not looking at pornography. When God views the action, there are times when Yahweh will state how a touch from the hand or the mouth in love can make your spouse feel special. Yield to Yahweh and ask Him to show you how real love in sexual acts brings powerful healing.

Say your thoughts out loud. Tell your spouse without shame where to touch. Speak your heart out loud. Let Yahweh bring closure to the past actions of others who caused great pain. Abuse, torture, and infidelity can hurt future love adventures. Take some time to share your past to release the tension from the emotional walls built from the hurt. When you share your feelings with your spouse and God, the three of you can work towards bringing forward a marriage that sustains the trials and temptations. Praying to Yahweh is just as important. Prayer also includes saying how you feel and sharing your way within. Yahweh does care.

When alone with your spouse in that way of romance, the way God made your body for comfort and enjoyment is a pleasure not to be masked with fakeness. Don't say fake sounds. Don't talk in deceptive ways to pretend to be content. Be transparent with God and your spouse; please tell your spouse if there is discomfort during intimate actions. Even while engaging in sexual ways, take mindful awareness of how they are. That's part of caring.

Why not seek Yahweh's help to bring emotional closeness to the marriage bed? Yahweh has such great wisdom, and He cares. So, being authentic in your passionate acts can bring great freedom. Intimacy is more than sexual actions. Real intimacy reveals itself when there is no fear of rejection, yielding to what your partner sees and what God says is honorable in the marriage bed.

May Yahweh help you see that natural actions will affect the spiritual way of joining as one.

STALE BREAD

June 22, 2023

1:05 p.m.

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

This entry will be transparent, not in sexual actions, but in giving a clear understanding that the Christian married spouse must not be afraid to enjoy what natural sex can offer. I will speak plainly. There are no sensual actions in this work yielding Yahweh's will. There is a placement to learn what is permissible and to know that it is okay to be expressive within your private chambers with your own lover who has one covenant vow of marriage with your way.

I have Yahweh's vision, which is based on a love for the people. In Yahweh's will, no sexual connection with your spouse has a dirty connotation. There is no shame in having pleasure with your own husband or wife. In Yahweh's marriage covenant, Yahweh blesses sex and makes a place of exploration within the confines of the union. Due to Yahweh's plan for humans to stay with one person and not bedhop or have side comforts, there must be an understanding that being with only your spouse does not mean that "prison" sex is all you can get—with a prison feeling of only getting this one person till death comes.

Think of your freedom to be yourself in your bedroom or home when no one is around. Look at how you belch or pass gas, snore, or pick your nose without others being disgusted. Look at how you can wear just your underwear when in your home (if that is what you care to do), and nobody can make you cover up because there is real freedom to be yourself. I usually work at home and cannot "let my hair down and relax" until after a specific time of day. But I do look forward to that time of day when most strangers will not visit.

I prefer a notice of when a guest will stop by. I don't want to be caught in an inappropriate placement during my workday. But when the work hours are over, I get comfortable. I want to feel at home in my space. I don't want to stay in work mode. I look forward to letting myself enter a place of rest, comfort, and satisfaction. These do not always mean sexual placings, but having a safe place to take away the stress of the world builds up our morale.

And what about sexual cravings? You have to view the act of sex as a place of comfort, rest, and satisfaction. But there needs to be an understanding: it is not wrong to want to make sure you get what you need in the encounter. Think about how you are at work: do you want people with bad breath or body odor near you? While at home, are you the type who needs to be "relaxed" first? Back rubs or certain atmosphere elements will help. But most do not look at our mental state to see if that could hinder sexual engagement. Is sex a physical act only, or is there a need to bring healed thoughts forward?

What if you're bored with sex? Think of a time when you weren't. What made you feel joy with that person? Was it the carefree way of expression? Were there no natural bills or family drama beforehand? Did the hurtful actions strip the "love bank" and make you have contempt for that person? Step away and claim your side of the problem, if any. If life is stressful, it will always have some elements of stressful living. However, how you manage stress will determine how you engage your spouse and if you even want them to get close to you.

There was a time when I dealt with physical, emotional, and sexual abuse to the point that I didn't care for sex unless it was to dominate or manipulate. I dealt with forms of abuse that no longer happened, yet the emotional stigma of what I dealt with lingered with me. And I badly treated my husband with sexual withdrawal due to how there was sexual PTSD I didn't know existed. I thought the more I gave sexual treats, the more I would want to participate.

But sexual activity does not heal old, painful abuse. The only way I could move on from having the various forms of abuse hover over me was to go to Yahweh and seek Him to forgive those who caused me pain. I did almost four years or so of therapy to deal with enduring different ways of abuse.

Yahweh King Jesus saved my soul, but I did not have full healing from all the old ways of physical trauma and abuse. I felt guilty for thinking that I may have caused others to abuse me. And that warped perception shaped my private way with my husband. I did not fear that he would hurt me. I had a fear that what was done to me in the old days was deserved and that I did not deserve to be wanted for the sexual ways with a pure look from my husband.

How can sex with your spouse be pure? Under Yahweh, the sex bed is undefiled. And sexual bread, seeing that same person over and over, will lose its flavor if you think they are meant to fill one hundred percent of all you crave in a man or woman. No human can give you fulfillment on every level. And some days, you may wonder why you are still with them. But what if you take a moment to remember what attracted you to that person? If it's an ungodly action, put a new trait (such as a new memory, action, or tradition) in its place.

"This person always smells good. I like that."

"He shaves his stubbles so that I wouldn't feel uncomfortable when he kisses me."

"He doesn't let his body functions go excessive and ensures that I don't feel disgusted by him."

"She dresses up sometimes and puts on a favorite top that I think she looks pretty in."

"She says she likes how I look with my hair/beard this way. So, I want to remember that look."

And so on. Compliments help bring the bread back to life. Give compliments. Say something nice. Don't always give them negative statements. Feed the person with a positive comment if you state a negative. Like this:

"I really don't like hearing you fart. It smells and makes me not want to be near you."

"But I feel like being near you when you wear the cologne I bought. Let's put some of that on you, and maybe we can cuddle."

There must be some positives and not only negatives.

Now, what if you both freshen up, yet there is still no craving for a sexual encounter? First, ask the woman if she likes this: The breasts being a source of attention. Learn of the sensory spots on her. And the same for the man.

Most men want to see the woman naked. But that will not create a happy sexual encounter in a wounded person's space. See where they like being touched and get permission before touching them. Test your spouse's range. For example, if kissing their neck is acceptable, they may permit you to touch them elsewhere. Have some days where you are not planning sex but will have a touch date.

Human senses are powerful. Learn to work with them.

And sometimes, you don't feel like putting on the extras (clothing, jewelry, makeup, etc.). That is okay! Yet make some time for your spouse and give into their "love banks," not just take from them. And a side note: If you know you tend to be easily satisfied during the sexual act, take care of your spouse first.

And a sexual encounter is not the only way to bring caring and fulfilling ways. Be a friend and show kindness to your spouse. Listen to their concerns and take an interest in daily living. If you tend to aggravate, mock, mistreat, and disrespect them, getting your spouse to that place of vulnerability will be difficult. If you don't value your spouse, getting them to view you in high regard would be hard, which affects how that person wants to engage and may even turn them off to sexual engagement.

Being married will not mean you will always be attracted to each other every moment. A person's looks can change over the years, or their actions may make you want to live without them. Both parties must be willing to accept that change is inevitable and have an awareness that they live with someone else who may not view daily living in the same way.

As you age together, have babies (or not), change vocations, and make new friends, ensure consistent ways of connecting. Consistently connect. Find a mutual interest, activity, or pastime. Let there be a sexual connection that affirms dedication to each other. And make sure to tell them how you would like to enter the joining. No feelings of shame to those in Yahweh under the marriage bed covenant. Amen.

HYGIENE

November 13, 2023

1:09 p.m.

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Does anyone care to ponder why hygiene is essential in any relationship, not just sexual engagement? Your family and friends may wonder if telling you to shower is a good idea, but here, I will. I sit here behind the safety of my computer, typing what Yahweh says we should consider.

Take a look at society. Not only is there a fake way of presentation, but it also shows how people want to pretend they look thinner or less wrinkly than they are. Who really cares? Few do. People are surprised and unsure how to respond when people behave transparently. They are used to fake presentations and do not know what to say whenever anyone shares their authentic way.

Who leads people? Churches, definitely not, for no church is willing to fully separate from society, taking on only what Yahweh says should be the way.

So, how can there be a saying that you should take a daily bath or get wipes to dim the body odor? There is a maintenance you need to take into consideration. What if how you take care of your natural body yields a reflection of how you view Yahweh's temple, the human? What if Yahweh lives within you and says you are His? Would that knowledge make a difference? Maybe. Some may look upright and say, "Maybe I should try harder."

But let's look at some common reasons for hygiene to be a priority and some hindrances to cleanliness.

1. In marriage, you are usually not living in solitude. Consider that in the marriage plan, you want to bring a form of contentment with your spouse. You say they need to accept you just the way you are. Are you selfish? Do you know that you belong to your spouse, and they are for you? Your spouse may not tell you to take a bath, but they do want to have an enjoyable sexual encounter or just comfortably sit next to you.
2. Before sexual acts, consider when you went and took a shower. Maybe you came home for a quick encounter; consider freshening up. And if you are a woman, do you freshen up before going to the “women’s doctor” or hospital? And shouldn’t your husband get the same courtesy?
3. Now, men, you may want to gain some attention down there. Please take a moment to wash yourself. You attempt to say you will take time to fake it with the public, how you cleaned up. What if Yahweh wants you to do another plan: esteeming your spouse above yourself? And you can with Yahweh’s help!
4. Hygiene will also include trimming/shaving. Have a real heart-to-heart talk with your spouse. Could your extra body hair make them not want to consider sexual engagement? Do you have a stable relationship where you can be honest with each other?
5. The beard: Men, does your facial hair smell like what you ate last? What if your facial hair hurts your spouse when you rub it against their skin? Could it cause them to no longer want to engage? Consider her needs and see if you can use precautions to help her get physically closer.
6. Shave the places that make you feel cleaned up. Don’t lose yourself in only thinking of the other. Take a poll with your spouse and see what they think can be improved (without name-calling, demeaning words, or embarrassing them). And maybe some areas can reach a compromise. You, too, need to enjoy looking at who you are and considering what makes you feel assured about who you are. Share your heart with love and carefulness of how they think, and don't hash up past hurts from woundedness. Both in the marriage must learn to be vulnerable with each other, accept each other's flaws, and learn how to show each other love when less than one hundred percent is yielded in sexual ways.

7. Demon Influences: There can be demons. The unclean spirit leeches on and causes a person not to value their worth, and in turn, diminishing their body and maintenance. Do you think you are not good enough to have someone love and care for you in loving actions? The past can be brutal, and we can hold on to old memories, transferring them into the marriage bed. But look at how King Jesus came to set us free from the old way. Yahweh can expel these unclean influences that bind you to live below a certain standard.
8. Do you feel ugly and hate showing your spouse how you look? Consider how Yahweh has you as His. Yahweh created sexual organs for pleasure and procreation under His care, and there is no shame in a husband and wife having a joining together. Let your spouse take a moment to share with you what they like about your body. Let them name three parts of your body they need to see at least three times a week.

The Bottom Line

- Consider who you are in Christ, a new creation. Your body is the temple of the Great Holy Spirit. You are under Yahweh's care and governing authority.
- Take a transparency poll with your spouse and see how they view you. What three parts of your body would they like to see at least three times a week?
- Make time to be with Yahweh and learn how He views you by reading His Written Word. Yahweh is God, our Great I AM, and He knows who you are and how you should be. You don't have to say what you think He cares to hear. Say what you see within and let His Great Holy Spirit lead you into all truth.

 Disclaimer: I am not a doctor; I speak Yahweh's plan based on Scriptural reference. Gather advice from your healthcare professional and seek counseling when needed.

YAHWEH SAYS THIS:

People think they can get away with using wipes as their personal hygiene instead of showering. Consider that you are used to smelling yourself. You may be used to your way of presentation. But what if Yahweh also cares about the way you smell? How you manage the temple of Yahweh is viewed as a way to say, "This temple is one I want to show honor to Yahweh with."

I WEAR RED LIPSTICK. IS THAT BAD?

SEERSGATE SAYS IT:

People connect with stereotypes. Many people think that wearing red lipstick means that you are sinning. What should be understood is that you can dress up with the latest clothing of professional status or be a homeless person, yet how you dress does not determine how your thoughts carry you and can shape your opinion of another.

Looks can be deceiving, a plan that could take you from starting a relationship or getting a good-paying job. You have to look as if you already have that position and status. You can see that a person's culture and home life will influence a person to turn and say that wearing red lipstick means you are in slavery to sexual acts that are displeasing. Who has dealt with cultural differences? Who can say they could walk down the street and see the difference in how the people live?

I visited a local church, and in this church gathering, the women members are not allowed to wear pants, for to their church culture, any woman doing so would act contrary to their church beliefs. It is permitted for guests to do this, yet being a member would mean taking part in their thinking based on their human application of Scripture. So, to them, the way you look means that you are in a holy way with Scripture. I have visited that church more than once and wore pants for each visit, not to be rebellious but to move in Yahweh's way.

Going without makeup or wearing specific attire doesn't mean a person is holy. Wearing lipstick or any other makeup in moderation is not an overwhelming distraction, nor should a person be looked poorly upon because of the color of their lips. What is the person's real motive for moving in this way to use facial enhancements? Red lips are beautiful; others will notice that shade. What are my reasons for wearing red lipstick? It is only to make a statement, yield, and do as Yahweh would state.

With the Great Way King Jesus, He truly wants us to worship Him in spirit and in truth. And this means coming before Him with clean hands and a pure heart. Yes, respect the way your church gathering is walking in Yahweh, yet move into a power way by seeing that what you put in the body and what you wear on the outside will not save you from eternal damnation.

But be careful. What does Scripture say concerning causing another to stumble?

(1) Accept other believers who are weak in faith, and don't argue with them about what they think is right or wrong. (2) For instance, one person believes it's all right to eat anything. But another believer with a sensitive conscience will eat only vegetables. (3) Those who feel free to eat anything must not look down on those who don't. And those who don't eat certain foods must not condemn those who do, for God has accepted them. (4) Who are you to condemn someone else's servants? Their own master will judge whether they stand or fall. And with the Lord's help, they will stand and receive His approval. (5) In the same way, some think one day is more holy than another day, while others think every day is alike. You should each be fully convinced that whichever day you choose is acceptable. (6) Those who worship the Lord on a special day do it to honor Him. Those who eat any kind of food do so to honor the Lord, since they give thanks to God before eating. And those who refuse to eat certain foods also want to please the Lord and give thanks to God. (7) For we don't live for ourselves or die for ourselves. (8) If we live, it's to honor the Lord. And if we die, it's to honor the Lord. So whether we live or die, we belong to the Lord. (9) Christ died and rose again for this very purpose—to be Lord both of the living and of the dead. (10) So why do you condemn another believer? Why do you look down on another believer? Remember, we will all stand before the judgment seat of God. (11) For the Scriptures say, "As surely as I live," says the Lord, 'every knee will bend to Me, and every tongue will declare allegiance to God.'" (12) Yes, each of us will give a personal account to God. (13) So let's stop condemning each other. Decide instead to live in such a way that you will not cause another believer to stumble and fall. (14) I know and am convinced on the authority of the Lord Jesus that no food, in and of itself, is wrong to eat. But if someone believes it is wrong, then for that person it is wrong. (15) And if another believer is distressed by what you eat, you are not acting in love if you eat it. Don't let your eating ruin someone for whom Christ died. (16) Then you will not be criticized for doing something you believe is good. (17) For the Kingdom of God is not a matter of what we eat or drink, but of living a life of goodness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. (18) If you serve Christ with this attitude, you will please God, and others will approve of you, too. (19) So then, let us aim for harmony in the church and try to build each other up. (20) Don't tear apart the work of God over what you eat. Remember, all foods are acceptable, but it is wrong to eat something if it makes another person stumble. (21) It is better not to eat meat or drink wine or do anything else if it might cause another believer to stumble. (22) You may believe there's nothing wrong with what you are doing, but keep it between yourself and God. Blessed are those who don't feel guilty for doing something they have decided is right. (23) But if you have doubts about whether or not you should eat something, you are sinning if you go ahead and do it. For you are not following your convictions. If you do anything you believe is not right, you are sinning.

—Romans 14:1-23 NLT

Let's take a look at verse twenty-one. Even though this chapter mainly refers to eating and drinking, the outline gives a closer look at why we should also consider our brother or sister in the faith. Be consistent in your wardrobe, behavior, and tolerance for what your conscience gives. If you are under a dress code at your church, there is no breaking away from respecting the gathering.

If you are out in public, don't behave contrary to your character and beliefs to fit in with the culture. The crowd tends to bend a person into following, and that person loses more than their choice of dress or hairstyle.

How your spirit moves in unity with the nature of Yahweh is the most crucial part of your walk on this earth, but do not ignore how your actions can cause others to fall away from the faith. And if wearing red lipstick at your church gathering causes others to stumble regarding their church culture, consider whether there is a unity break with how you submit to that gathering. The goal is to live a life of "...righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit" (Romans 14:17, NASB). In Yahweh's way of living, true fulfillment takes over; no better plan exists.

SEX USED AS A WEAPON

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Sexual outlets are to come freely through the marriage covenant that you are in with your husband or wife. God made the marriage covenant for a few reasons. One is so that each will have their mate to join in with, to bring each other sexual pleasure. Just read the book called Song of Solomon in God's Holy Word, and there, you will see He wants a married couple to freely enjoy each other and take a moment to explore each other's bodies.

Even just reading this would cause great embarrassment for some of you. Your way truly is under the false impression that God cannot see you on your couch or bed in a dark room, fondling that person. But surely, He can see in the deepest night as if it were daytime. I know that God is everywhere, and He never sleeps. He wants you to be honest with Him about what you want in a marriage relationship.

I keep bringing up marriage to develop the concrete thought that Yahweh created sex for the marriage bed. Sex brings a husband and wife a joining that should not be duplicated with any other. When you violate the marriage vow, that not only causes deep pain in that person's soul who felt betrayed, but it also brings a rift between you and God's love, with being able to feel His presence in an intimate dealing.

God will always love you even when you are sinful or misbehaving or just thinking about it. You can never have enough good works to win God over. Yahweh is looking at your heart and whether you seek Him with motives displeasing to Him. He truly wants us to come before Him with clean hands and pure hearts. Concerning sex as a weapon: Why would anyone choose this? They can only see the act of sex as a way to pay back the other who might be taking advantage of them in another area of the relationship. Then it would appear to the wounded person who uses sex this way as if the only way to gain attention would be to give out sex on their timing, never to consider the other person a soulmate.

Joining any person in sexual dealings will produce soul connections. It doesn't matter how you both met; the joining is solely in a soulish way under spiritual connections. A soul tie is not visible under your natural seeing. You cannot look at a person and tell that they are in a sexual relationship with another.

Your husband or wife will not gauge what joinings you have become involved with. You cannot hate that person, withhold sex, and still think God will be pleased. Do not think you should be a sex slave with any. In this Kingdom work, your body belongs to Yahweh.

The way you should see the mate you have joined in with is like an attachment to your way; with this attachment, both share each other's hurt and pain. Both share each other's burdens and feelings of great love and joy in the Great Holy Spirit. God's love cannot stem from how that other person is treating you, but a wounded heart tends to allow that pain to filter through all they deal with, to feel justified for withholding the one thing their spouse should get from them.

Some ignore their spouse for days or weeks and wonder why no longing exists to engage. Why is sex such a great need? It is a built-in trait in humans, where God installed a natural craving to have this joining. This joining in sex is a needed desire in each marriage. Come and look at what the Great Way wants in these moments. The way you hurt others will not justify you. It would not be the best plan to keep hurtful dealings in your spirit: The poison will infiltrate you, hardening your heart. Instead, seek God first to learn how to deal with details.

Yahweh's way of release will not be with revenge, but He will make a way to bring redemption into your whole way so you can heal. Let Yahweh show you any painful plotting way you may have that would bring a rift between you and your spouse. Seek Yahweh. Wisdom can come forward in a greater measure. All you have to do is ask the Helper to guide you into all truth. Even the pain of learning the real motive you carry within will surely bring a good power shifting so that you can grow deeper in God.

The bottom line: Yahweh created sex for marriage. Spouses under the covenant should have freely yielded sexual acts under their jointly agreed-on terms. There should be freedom in the marriage bed, with God's Kingdom honor in place under godly yielding. God made the marriage covenant for a purpose. God created sex in marriage for a purpose.

Yahweh cares about you and what will bring greater fulfillment in your marriage. Don't be afraid to be truthful with God and your spouse concerning what will bring you deeper fulfillment. Make sure Yahweh can give you instructions on your sex acts. I guarantee Yahweh will know what plans will work well under your marriage covenant without putting you in awkward, uncomfortable settings.

Always forgive. That's not easy when you always want to be perceived as right.

POWER PRAYER

My God Yahweh, You are the One who sees the deepest ways of pain within my soul. I need to see the ways of love and marriage based on what You say is better. The things of the world are not what they are perceived as. And for a long while, I relied on fleshly cravings to fill me. Please turn this craving for the pleasing of fleshly ways into a surging that brings You honor and a healthy balance within to walk in Your Kingdom way of living. Please cleanse me within from the old way so there will be a true turning towards serving Your will with clean hands and a pure heart. I yield to You, Yahweh. Thank You, Yahweh.

PASTORS CAN HAVE SEX AND ENJOY IT

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

What would make humans think they can be free in the bedroom? Well, why should there be hindering ways? Shouldn't there be true freedom to be how you feel you should be in your relationship? Would Yahweh say don't touch your spouse a certain way? But Yahweh doesn't hinder how a husband and wife have sexual interaction as long as they do not bring in certain actions that bring dishonor to Yahweh.

For example, Yahweh will not condone having other people do sexual actions that you are to do for your spouse. No extra people in the bedroom and no viewing of lustful actions are granted. No pornography and no strip clubs. Some of you say, "Wow, it seems that Yahweh is all about rules and unwilling to let me have a fun moment." But Yahweh looks at the action and notes if it brings any separation in your natural relationship with your spouse and how that action causes you to veer off from following Yahweh in a close way.

Sin separates us all from the presence of God. And no one is so perfect that they cannot fall into temptation. That is why we pray daily to God, saying, "Please, Father, lead me not into temptation but deliver me from the evil one," as a part of our Father's prayer mentioned in the Scripture.

Yahweh is the One who made the human male and female so they could take on the plan of being fruitful, multiplying, and replenishing the earth. Should a real preacher or pastor take down their ministry robe and have passionate lovemaking with their spouse? Would there be an offensive way to Yahweh for how they long for and crave their spouse?

Yahweh gave sex to procreate and to enjoy the other in the marriage bed. Yahweh gave the Bible that contains love notes of enjoyment in the Book Song of Solomon. The preacher may fear a lack of holy living when going all the way in full enjoyment as if they are sinning. But Yahweh approves and says this is His will; it is in His written Word not to be shy of the male giving his body to his wife and the woman doing likewise for the husband.

(1) Now for the matters you wrote about: "It is good for a man not to have sexual relations with a woman." (2) But since sexual immorality is occurring, each man should have sexual relations with his own wife, and each woman with her own husband. (3) The husband should fulfill his marital duty to his wife, and likewise the wife to her husband. (4) The wife does not have authority over her own body but yields it to her husband. In the same way, the husband does not have authority over his own body but yields it to his wife. (5) Do not deprive each other except perhaps by mutual consent and for a time, so that you may devote yourselves to prayer. Then come together again so that Satan will not tempt you because of your lack of self-control.

—1 Corinthians 7:1-5 NIV

Yes, make it fun. Change where you have sex in your home. Change positions and know what your spouse expects. It is okay to be caring and see if they are comfortable. Tell your spouse how you feel and randomly send them a little note to let them know you are thinking about them.

Yahweh doesn't suggest sending nude photos over the Internet. Be kind to your spouse, and take your spouse's sexual and physical cravings into consideration. Please also remember that sometimes, what is spoken brings the person variations of excitement about what to look forward to. And if your spouse likes to eat certain foods beforehand, take a mental note of some preferences. But in all actions, bring honor to God Yahweh.

"ONE-POSITION" PERSON?

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Don't be embarrassed by this brief note. The way of Yahweh is filled with great wisdom, and there is no shame in sexual dealings in the marriage bed. What some are thinking would be knowing that someone else is writing about something they tend to think about at least now and then. But there is no shame here, so let's talk freely.

Are you comfortable knowing that you can experience new things apart from the marriage bed with your spouse? So, why not consider the matter and see what your spouse would like? Why make sex a ritual? Shouldn't there be an allowance to ask your spouse if they would consider the idea of a new location to engage in or a sexual position to experience? Think about safety. Would what you request cause any form of harm to your spouse? Then, regroup and think of another plan that would bring pleasure to your spouse.

Before trying something new to bring your spouse into a relaxed plan: (1) Consider giving them a back rub or cuddling. (2) Hold each other and just be there, not trying to make something happen. Some people like candles or fragrances; others do not. So, be sensitive to the other in that regard.

Try being transparent with each other. Consider this: Some spouses are offended by you if your hair looks a certain way or if there was no hygiene cleaning up beforehand. Others do not want to deal with body odor or bad breath but are afraid to speak plainly with their spouse. These are some leading traits to bring forward when dealing with intimacy.

There should be no expectation to perform. Don't fake it. Tell your husband or wife if something doesn't feel good. But do not build up any intimacy based on lies. Don't tell your spouse you liked that action when you hated being in the dominant plan. Maybe your spouse wants to try having sex in the shower, but you are afraid your hair will get messed up. How about keeping a shower cap under the sink just in case there is that moment when your spouse is in the shower, and you go in and pay a visit?

Healthy sex doesn't mean two or three times a day. It can mean even only once every few days or up to a week if there are other ways you two are intimate, for intimacy is not based on sexual intercourse but on how you connect emotionally. Some random actions are cuddling, talking, hugging, gentle touch on a body limb, playing with or twirling your spouse's hair, sending love notes, calling to say hi, making dinner, running an errand, or telling the woman that she looks pretty. These are just a few ways to break the mundane.

You don't have to wait until nighttime. You can be intimate throughout the day, in the middle of the night, after lunch, or whenever there needs to be a quick connection. But do not dishonor Yahweh and bring voyeurism to the marriage. Don't do sexual actions in a location where others can watch. No parked car actions. No random sex in the stranger's house unless you are staying in the guest bedroom. Do not have sex in the church building. Do not have sex in front of children. Mild displays of affection are accepted in public, but be careful of your environment and adhere to Yahweh's plan.

And even during one sexual engagement, try switching positions, and maybe even wear accessories (heels, jewelry, t-shirt, etc.) Dress up if you feel comfortable. And if your body is holding you back from experiencing something new, wear loose-fitting nightwear or even walk around with a bed sheet like a towel. Put the sheet over whatever "imperfections" you feel should be hidden during the sexual action.

Be vulnerable and tell your spouse you feel nervous if you are. Tell them that you need a moment to freshen up. Tell them when you want to stop. But don't use sex as a weapon. Tell them when you would like an encounter. And if the other person is not feeling well, don't take it personally. Different ways of showing love and affection will come forward when there is love. Be yourself, and know it's okay to let the one who joined you in the flesh know the real you.

EXCESSIVE TALKING IN FOREPLAY

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Have you ever met someone who feels the only way to make the environment comfortable is to talk? But what if it is out of a plan to ease going into something that makes them uncomfortable? What if people use talking to avoid going into sexual activity?

Talking is used to mend or comfort the one who engages in the activity that causes mental pain. It's similar to how people over-communicate in a text message to ensure the person is not offended by what is said. But why is there a need to share more than what is needed? Sometimes, talking will mask whatever pain is associated with the task involved. This reaction often happens with the ones who participate in uncomfortable activities that cause trauma.

Sex is a way of great intimacy in the marriage bed, but what happens when sex becomes an activity as common as a handshake? Those who were once in the sex industry may use sexual actions as a way to a means and not necessarily for intimacy based on whatever level of trauma endured in previous actions. Previous sexual trauma is why some people use drugs or excessive alcohol just to cope with the mental pain of natural sex. They need a precursor to deal with the trauma of former sexual actions.

And here, some people talk to make it seem they are more engaged when, instead, all the talking may drain the hearer. A traumatized person who dealt with sexual abuse fears reverting to that emotional state and has to coax their way into partaking in natural engagement with their spouse. Even if the trauma-causing event happened decades ago, there may still be a residue that hinders free touching and exploring within the marriage bed. A scent, a word, or specific colors may draw that person back, and they may have to explore ways to feel safe.

Generally, men expect their women to talk; they think something's wrong when women don't excessively talk. The woman is expected to carry the conversation, and if not, more talkative men are looked poorly upon. Can there be a compromise of equal sharing or an opportunity for the woman to be at peace and ponder or process her day without seeming distant? How would a person break away from needing to talk to be comfortable with their spouse before having sex with them? It takes a reconditioning of the mental state so that what once represented a despised action is now a fun time with the one you long to be near.

Instead of speaking, think of those happy feelings in your married way. Is there a moment to relive and show them they mean a lot to you? Say what means something dear, and then consider the real reason to come together and focus on doing the end goal: intimate contact. And when a painful emotion comes up, pray under your breath and petition Yahweh to change your perspective. The old way may be painful, but the new way is without any shame.

PLAYING DRESS-UP

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Playing dress-up: is it to be another person? Can we surely gain trust by pretending to be other people? It would depend on whether the plan gives those involved in the “acting out” safe ways. Is it fun to pretend, engage, and tease each other in the marriage? Wearing fun ornaments brings contentment when there is a safe way to engage in playful love and heartfelt enjoyment. Ornaments are clothing used to present a sexually appealing way to the spouse. It would be a pleasure in the marriage bed to have costumes, various high heels, or certain underwear to wear at home if both spouses took pleasure in that way.

Let me give you another way of looking at this dressing-up plan. When picking out clothing attire, here is the boundary: Will wearing that ornament dishonor Yahweh or the spouse? Will the outfit demean your spouse or make them feel “dirty” or ashamed? A spouse will have to consider painful past actions that their spouse deals with to gauge how much “dressing up” can take form.

There must be clear communication with each other. If verbal communication is uncomfortable, another way to communicate is to consider setting up a fill-in-the-blank question-and-answer form. Their spouse can list what is okay to wear and engage in and what is not. And there should be that safety net in knowing that no one will judge them but use what’s learned to bring closeness through fun play. No spouse should feel less than important or wear an ornament that lowers self-esteem.

Some women take great esteem in having their husbands go high-heel shoe shopping with them. The man feels that his opinion is important. And the woman should feel comfortable telling her husband what would bring positive ways to please her visually in a sexual way. Dressing up doesn’t enhance sexual actions but provides another outlet to explore each other and learn the form of the spouse's body, which gives opportunities to get close in learning about each other and not just for the act.

Wearing work-style costumes or hair and body attire is a safe way to keep marriage parasites at bay. Don't bring others into the marriage bed for fulfillment. Wearing perfumes, makeup, jewelry, and ornaments will not affect how a person relates to King Jesus. Our God Yahweh will not enter a third-wheel plan and take on sex with humans. That plan is Satan-based.

Know that Yahweh is always there to bless the union and approve of the Christian married way in a Kingdom order plan. But if your spouse is uncomfortable with the idea of wearing high-heels and sex-turning outfits, do not make them. And do not go to adult porn stores. Stay out of sex toy stores. Get regular outfits from a public department store that cater to flattering female curves, which will not bring reproach but present a pleasing Christian look.

The bottom line: Don't feel any shame if you want to get some high heels to wear at home for your husband to enjoy. If lingerie is not appealing, try wearing soft towels or silk robes and comforting each other to give a form of consideration to what your spouse would find attractive. And please talk about the idea of wearing ornaments; don't just demand it. Visually pleasing ornaments leading into sexual engagement is not a Bible command; it's a form of consideration in the marriage bed, meant to be shared with your own spouse.

IS ORAL SEX ALLOWED IN MARRIAGE?

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Is this question important in terms of our way of living? Many Christians would pretend they are not doing any form of sexual acts. But in marriage, is there this freedom to give freely in sexual details? Yes, sex is very needed in a person's way. Every person longs to fill the flesh with sexual attention, yet we should not give in to every longing. Many will bring on painful actions based on one sexual encounter throughout their natural life.

Sexual acts should not be freely given to anyone based on needing to satisfy a sexual longing. There must be guarded ways with the people in close ways with you, where you do not engage in casual sexual body contact. Watch how you join with others, for connections must be broken in the spirit realm if you choose to engage in sex with others.

The topic of oral sex can be talked about in the local high schools, yet parents are afraid to explain why this activity should wait until the marriage bed.

Sex itself: is it void of the act of intercourse? Oral sex can occur in marriage covenant details, but we should break down the oral sex act itself into three parts. The first way in oral sex is to get stimulation from the other partner by an action performed on a sex organ with the partner's mouth. Hence, does the act of putting your mouth on a person's sex organ constitutes a sexual intercourse activity?

No plan will make touching your husband or wife's organ a sexual act as intercourse, yet manipulating the sex organ would produce a sensation that would give a reflex that would cause an explosion in an orgasm state. But sexual manipulation of the sex organ is not sex, as in reference to a sex act called intercourse. Manually stimulating a person to the point of sexual climax by using other parts of the body other than what is intended by God is another way to give a sexual detail. But in the case of oral manipulation of a sex organ, the price is high in having that person have a natural response when engaging in sex with your organ when they are used to sexual manipulation.

Here is another way to explain it. When a person constantly relies on oral sex or hand manipulation of the sex organ, they will struggle with reaching a climax with natural sex, based on having a habit of needing that manual or oral manipulation first and foremost. Too much manipulation dulls the natural way of sex given by intercourse. Overstimulating will cause a numbing that will take more effort to give the same results as climaxing with natural sex. Most of those accustomed to having oral manipulation as a habit will have personal difficulty getting pleased by their spouse with natural sex, based on not having that same way of receiving stimuli.

Now, the next point: Other than overstimulation giving hindering ways to dull natural sex, the will to place a person's sex organ in the partner's mouth must be addressed. Can God see you when in this activity? Yes, He can. He is not against pleasing your spouse with intimate acts, but He wants to make it plain that mutual enjoyment must be considered.

A marriage license is not a license to make the other person do this act. The act must be optional and not placed as a law to perform. What if the willing partner doesn't consider that they will have to endure poor hygiene and hairy organs, making the task hard to deal with? What if one is selfish, only concerned with their fulfillment yet ignoring how the other feels?

Sometimes, a husband or wife may not desire to make oral sex a part of the sexual encounter. What happens, then? The denial of oral sex is not grounds for holding back natural sex. Other ways to build up sexual stimulation do not involve any oral sex. Touching and caressing, along with open communication, can bring deep stimulation, adding a depth of pleasure to natural sexual encounters. Learning how to give pleasure will require putting the person's needs before your own. And in turn, both partners can have that freedom of being given pleasing ways with each other.

So, the first point is that oral sex can cause overstimulation of a sex organ by doing the act habitually, making it difficult to have sexual pleasure through natural sex. The second point is to consider the act itself and if it's a needed plan in the marriage relationship. Other forms of touch can bring that needed rise in sexual pleasure. The will to please each other in this way should not be selfish, ignoring hygiene, and if the other wants to take this act as a regular dealing in the relationship.

Now, let's talk about another point: What about when the man throws out his seed? This refers to the male reaching a certain plateau through sexual manipulation that causes the organ to expel semen. Would Yahweh be pleased? I had to ask the Great Way about this topic and was amazed that He was okay with sexual manipulation of the organ in the marriage relationship, yet God frowned on the wasting part. He looked at the act lovingly, yet He did not consent to let oral sex take over and replace what natural sex is intended for. This means that you can use birth control, condoms, and safety precautions in your marriage bed, but when Yahweh says there must be natural sex, do not let overstimulation ruin the action of coming together as one.

COMPETING WITH THE FAMILY

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Everyone generally says they love their family members. They do not want to say anything demeaning that would also make them look lowered, just like the family members they review in their thinking. But would anyone admit that siblings or even children versus their parents are always in some form of competition, even when not willingly doing that way?

A good example would be the parent who wants to live their life through their children, making their children take on school activities or attend a school or work based on what they think is pleasing. The parent is saying, "Well, I didn't have it this good. Let me make sure my children have a better future than I did," not realizing they are making their children compete against a vision or a dream of unattained missed opportunities. The parent sometimes competes with their children, making them work extra hard for any love presentation or approval.

But what about sibling rivalry? For example, siblings can have healthy competition by playing social games or baking contests. But what happens when one child has envy against a sibling and everything that one child does is judged or critiqued? When is it no longer healthy? When the person thinks territorially and treats a sibling as a stranger.

Anyone would be viewed as an enemy if they had a well-endowed plan. But what about sexual dealings? Some siblings are so jealous of their own blood relatives that they fear their significant other or spouse will turn and take a look at what the other has. I've heard of a story of a woman who would not let her sister in her wedding because she feared her sister would outshine her. That is a much deeper problem than what the sister looks like.

But should enemies be in the family? This question pertains to the way of sexual dealings. Should you hope that your brother or sister stays overweight so that you will feel better? What if they made more money? Would that be a form of power that can drive the sexual craving in someone close to you? For some people, if someone makes more money than them, they feel sexually inadequate, as if money brings sexual pleasure. Rather, for some, seeing a person with money builds their sexual appetite, for money can be perceived as a form of power. When women feel that they would feel pretty or happy or less insecure if their family member stays poor or fat or friendless, jobless, and so on, there is a much bigger problem.

But what drives the lack of support? For some people, social media makes them fear what is not. For others, a previous trauma brings them an emotional wall, making them afraid of trusting others.

What should be our goal? When we look at our parents or blood siblings and see a trait we envy, we should turn to Yahweh and ask Him to show us our hearts and why we dislike that trait in that other person. It's as if, "If my family member could have that lifestyle or that man (or woman) and have that body, why can't I? Don't we share the same genes?" And that is the fear that they will never have a purpose apart from trying to gain a goal not meant for them.

What if we went to Yahweh and told Him how we felt? What if we present to Him what hurts us and how we long to be a success story? And Yahweh would share: "You are a wonderful treasure. I made you. I formed you. You are the only plan like you. And I want you to trust Me. I can fill this void." So, can we pray together?

Thank you, my God Yahweh, for bringing encouragement. My heart aches over not having achieved what I thought I would have. By now, in my life, I thought I would be doing what You hear me speak of. And I want to turn now to look at what I am in the Kingdom. I want to know how to be with clean hands and a pure heart. Please forgive me for my hatred towards (the family member). Please help me to show honor and love to others in a way that glorifies You. I'm honored to be in Your family, grafted in.

DEALING WITH DIVORCE

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

This document is not about living out divorce. This document deals with learning self-worth while waiting for a finalized divorce. How should a person move forward in sexual waiting? According to Yahweh, He does not condone adultery or fornication. Those two actions are against the way of the Kingdom. The word of God Yahweh is still real, actively bringing us God's wisdom and ways of doctrine. But what should we learn from this? It's not that Yahweh wants to keep us from experiencing life. That is why King Jesus came: to give us life. Real life builds a person up and does not bring any pleasing ways to Satan. To live for King Jesus must not be hindered by the flesh.

The cravings of the body are strong. The longing for companionship is a real plan. And asking Yahweh for strength will encourage you. But know that just because Yahweh shows His approval in one area doesn't mean that Yahweh will approve all that is done. Yahweh looks at His Word. He stands with it, and He looks to see if the ones who say they love Him will yield their will and follow what He says in His teachings.

So, stay with Yahweh while you wait for your divorce to settle. And do not place yourself in a position where you are tempted in greater measures. For example, don't put yourself in an environment where people are half-dressed. If you notice you have a weakness for the men in a particular show, do not sit there and dwell on what you watch. Maybe find something else to view. If you know you struggle with your eye gates lusting after a great deal, change your settings on your TV or perhaps stay away from social media. And always walk carefully, and remember that you honor Yahweh in your daily living.

Now, what if your still-married spouse is off living sinfully? Would that give you permission to live any plan and act as if still in a sinful way? You are not to live as if Yahweh is not watching you. Your covenant of serving Yahweh requires clean hands and a pure heart.

Man looks at the outside; Yahweh looks at the heart. So, as you live each day waiting for that paperwork, enjoy the waiting with Yahweh, knowing He is well aware of the struggles, the hardship, the anger, and the bitter hatred. Don't hide your pain from Yahweh. Tell Him how the pain hurts and how you have a relationship with others.

You may feel jealous. You may hate knowing that your spouse will one day be in the arms of another. But remember why there was no other way but a legal separation. Let Yahweh take you into a healing that will help you deal with the pain. Do not crave what is gone, but crave learning Yahweh's plan. When two become one, there is no easy way to split that.

Concerning your words: Try not to speak ill of the other person. Remember that if Yahweh stood beside you, where would your language be? Would you curse and swear and blame everyone else for how you deal with what happens? There must be consistency in heart actions. When painful feelings come forward, admit them.

Go and pray, tell Yahweh how painful the situation is, and ask Him to help with the moment. You may not feel an instant release, but this is a walk of faith, trusting Yahweh's plan. And as each day goes on, you will learn to cope. But if you do not address the pain and hide it away, there will always be a bitter person, always speaking ill, even if the new woman or man in your ex-spouse's life is without shame. Stay with Yahweh and pray. Do not declare and decree but offer a petition.

And without faith it is impossible to please God, because anyone who comes to Him must believe that He exists and that He rewards those who earnestly seek Him.

—Hebrews 11:6 NIV

TORTURE OF THE FEMALE ORGAN

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Various nations will openly permit the torture of the female sexual organ. Could there be a doctor who would perform their version of female circumcision as if a female has the same organs as given to a male? Nowhere in Scripture is this degrading way given within. From a more in-depth seeing, there is a real way to see that there are women who will take on the procedure as a plan that will give them the position of a woman. And it's a plan that will generally have ways to be provided by the older women of the gathering.

The pain accompanying the cutting can be covered in a plan to prepare to be perceived as honored. What is the root reason for performing this act? This female circumcision is a ritual masked as a release of power. It's a way to gain a plan of joining with their option of deity. Whatever lives within that woman that hinders her as a woman within her mental and dealings of social engagement will seem to be released within this archaic act. A binding covenant is produced. And whatever plan is connected, it joins to the person's spirit as a ruling agent. It's just like a person wearing a ring that is given ritual ways and will bond a person with the symbol carved into that ring.

A bond in the person's spirit gives a covenant that joins to what plan they turn to when wearing the ring. With the cutting of the human female genitals, there is a covenant within the person that will join them with their given culture. Is it worth it—joining with a cultural act that brings pain and many levels of health issues? Is it worth having complex healings to deal with, and is it not guaranteed that the wound area will fully heal? It doesn't take you into sin-filled ways as certain cult dealings. Specific spiritual influences can bring a hindering covenant in spiritual transactions that will carry a heavier weight that cannot be maintained by joining any culture.

Be careful; the female organ brings a pleasurable sexual release, with healing in the marriage bed. Taking this healthy release from the woman lowers her in married ways. Touching the female in private ways when love in the Great King Jesus leads will bring her levels of enjoyment in her right to be a woman. This form of touching your spouse is God's will. And there is no dishonor with being a woman when fully being enabled to have deep sexual release through her female organ within Yahweh's plan. Amen.

A CRAVING FOR THE MALE ORGAN

June 21, 2024

11:30 p.m.

YAHWEH IS LEADING:

I told you to watch the movie _____ and fast forward through the more perverse scenes. It was hard to keep up due to not knowing when a moment of nakedness would show up on the screen. You have not seen that many naked men in many years, their backside showing, not the male organ. But did it matter that you were not able to taste (see) what they carried? Because you saw the backside and hurriedly grabbed the remote to fast forward, you showed your heart's intent not to view material that would taint your spirit. But viewing the buttocks of men still drove you to crave more. Your human fleshly way warred against your spirit, against what the Great Holy Spirit would want.

Servant, and they say that a Christian can view whatever they want and remain pure. No, a true follower of King Jesus cannot view whatever they feel like. Those very brief moments, totaling under thirty seconds, caused a great hindrance. You now crave to view more of those well-endowed men, for they were built well. This is why I put heavy restrictions upon what you view. You must cleanse from viewing those few moments.

The entire movie in itself is very inappropriate for any member of My Kingdom. I do not condone that movie, and I knew what would happen. I wanted to show you that you can get close to Yahweh and, in a moment, turn to view something that could hinder our walk. Never take Me for granted. Never take My surging power lightly. Do not try and please those who carelessly view whatever they want, thinking that their spirit can never turn away from Yahweh and die off. Twice dead would be the end result of a continual turning away, returning back to what once was.

Now, servant, it's time to detox.

SEERSGATE:

Yahweh, King of the universe, I humbly yield my way. Create in me a clean heart and renew the right spirit within me. I opened a doorway and viewed material I should not have viewed. I thought I could get away with viewing a perverse movie and hide my vision from what nudity was given, and I did not keep my eye gates clean. Yahweh, I do not want to walk in that way of viewing sin-based details. I must close off all perverse dealings, even keeping away from movie trailers or social media plans that carry Satan's nature. No matter what the baseline is or the movie rating set in place by non-followers of Yahweh, I must set myself apart from that former way. Yahweh, I choose to come under Your order of what is required to get close: clean hands and a pure heart. Wash me in Your blood, King Jesus. Please forgive me for thinking I can escape the snare of what the world views as okay.

YAHWEH IS LEADING:

That's good, servant. I told you to view that movie and fast forward through the perverse scenes. I did that—not to make you feel that you are being trapped into sinning. Rather, I wanted your way to observe a few particular scenes to show you how famous people are looking for real, authentic, and trustworthy people. Even though you dealt with famous people, you have no reputation for doing so. You keep your way hidden, and I've trained you to do this. I need to know that you can keep My secrets. And you do well in this.

You learned the lessons needed, but I knew it would be impossible for you to skip through so much perverseness and view the "little cute scenes" with the kid. How could a kid be involved in such a perverse matter? Because people view the innocence of a child involved in a movie and say, "If a kid can be in the movie, surely it is okay to view." No, the baseline of the movie is what I look at.

Turn away from all appearance of evil. Never view anything based on what others tell you. Stay with Yahweh and let Me put even greater restrictions upon your viewing. I am with you. I will be with those who will choose to let Me cover them. I keep those who are Mine. Yet, no one is forced to stay.

A PRAYER FOR HEALING FROM DEMONS

July 27, 2022

9:15 p.m.

SEERSGATE BEGINS IT:

You don't have to pay money for healing or deliverance. You don't need to give a money sacrifice where it "hurts" to get the One True God, King Jesus, to take a look at where you are. Are you hurting and in painful experiences? Are you tired of being mistreated? Does it all seem hopeless? I will not give you a fake way. Living in this fallen world isn't more effortless if you are a Christian.

Your words of declaring will not make Yahweh do what you want Him to do. Then what should all humans do when approaching a real God who doesn't always answer us the way we hope He would? Humble ourselves. Come before a great and mighty God with a repentant way, knowing that Yahweh gives us the air to breathe and a way to be with Him forever.

When you enter the Kingdom of God through salvation in King Jesus, eternal life begins at that moment due to how King Jesus is our Eternal Life. And when you naturally die, you will dwell with God forever (Revelation 21:3-4). Anything you place in your heart as first, over serving Yahweh King Jesus, that plan is now your god. No one can destroy a real God.

Note: To "kill a god" is to bring destruction to that entity, just as they make it appear in a sci-fi movie where the human can lower a great god down to nothing. King Jesus was never just a man. King Jesus is eternal and came in the form of human flesh through the incarnation yet carrying two distinct natures: God-man. King Jesus never removed His God nature and operated as we move on the earth. He chose not to make His full display of power plain while He walked the earth. He did not show His full glory during His earthly ministry. During the transfiguration, a few disciples tasted a moment of what His full presentation would look like.

So, no one could destroy a real God. They were able to kill King Jesus, who is God, on the cross, but they could not destroy Him because He is eternal; King Jesus is literally Eternal Life.

And if you are worshipping pictures, wooden images, and other humans, get rid of those “heart” idols that come between putting Yahweh first. We all must be careful. Let’s seek Yahweh.

If you are under torment, let us look at Yahweh’s plan. Today, He wants to focus on expelling demons. Satan will not divide his house and expel Satan (Matthew 12:22-28). If you crave to continue in that sin, there may be a longing to host that demon. If you want to do that sin or live with that idol, view inappropriate material (occultic or a mockery to God), or keep that covenant with evil work, you say to the realm that you want to give territorial governing power to those sins and the sinful nature in the covenant. Please see that you cannot blatantly continue to sin and claim to be in the Kingdom. Choose which master you will serve: God or the lowercase demon named Satan.

Are you ready to taste this new living? First, read the Good News Message here (noted in this book). Take in the way of salvation and turn away from sinful living. Stay in a Christian Bible-following church gathering. Read the Word of God. The ESV is a reliable Bible version to read through.

Now, you want to seek King Jesus. Yes, He can expel those demons at the moment of salvation. However, we must also consider that we are in a fleshly body that must still be redeemed. And this flesh is constantly warring against God (Galatians 5:17). We make mistakes. We still can sin. We must seek King Jesus when we need cleansing in His blood. Daily, He covers us, but with free will, you can still choose to leave. Eternal life comes when salvation begins, but we must endure to the end. Let's pray and break off demon torture.

PRAYER

Yahweh, God of all spirits, I humbly yield to You. You are the One True God who hears us when we pray. I yield within, and I choose to serve You. I renounce witchcraft, and I will not yield to Satan. In Your power, I will be able to resist the devil, and he will flee. You, King Jesus, have all authority, and I can be set free in Your name. This is a prayer of petition. We need You in our churches, our government, and our workplaces. King Jesus, I need You in my body where You govern it in a pleasing way. I seek You. Please heal me. And remove these demons and send them where You say.

YAHWEH IS SPEAKING:

I hear it, this prayer, servant. I will honor our covenant and heal the ones who humble themselves.

Part Two

INFLUENCES

SEX TOYS: GOOD, NEEDED, OR SINFUL?

YAHWEH IS SAYING THIS:

So many have a craving for a male or female sexual outlet. Some people want to feel the warmth of having a person touch their naked skin. Is there a difference when dealing with dolls? Or what if they only care about having a toy shaped like a penis? Is that enough, or is that a sinful plan? People rub themselves against others. A man manually rubs his hands against his male organ—hoping to get that simulated feel of having the warmth of a person. What is that human need, servant? The need is to feel the connection given through the missing soul tie.

Sex is not just a natural act. Having sex with anyone produces a form of a spiritual bond, which must have a breaking away when it is not from a union joined through marriage. Does Yahweh approve of using sex toys? There is no sexual bonding given through inanimate objects. But the way a person masturbates only shifts a little bit when inanimate objects are used to replace what the hand once did. Instead of using the person's hand, the person chooses to use a projection of what could have been.

Women strapping on a male penis; what thrill is that? Only to give a reminder of what always could be. The feeling of having a warm embrace is part of why sex is needed—natural sex, not manmade outlets. Follow through with what I gave on what I see when a Christian masturbates, then in that same context, replace the person's hand with an inanimate object. Is Yahweh going to give approval for bringing down a form of sexual bondage that makes it difficult for a real human lover to maintain?

Here is an example: Let us say a man continually masturbates. He is comfortable reaching a sexual plateau without the warmth of a woman. Over natural time, this man will bind with his way to sexually satisfy his natural need that will take on a form of numbness to what a real woman can provide. His continual masturbation will take away the sensitivity of warm sex with a woman, and his way of bringing pleasure within will become stale.

When a person masturbates, they lose that sensitivity. Over natural time, it is difficult for a person to get to that same level of satisfaction with a human lover as what can be brought on by a sex toy or a natural hand. Sex toys will not have feelings nor bring warmth or hungry ways for sex. Sex toys take away real intimacy and soul bonding. It places sex as a function, not a merging, as with a spiritual transfer of the two who are joined.

See My plan, how Yahweh says that to take in the masturbation action with hands, strap-ons, or penises and vaginas shaped from others, the person loses the natural sexual and spiritual joining of what takes way in a marriage. If I told the world that natural sex brings a transfer of spirit beings between the ones who join in the natural act, would a person cater to a healthier living? A person who states that objects will not transfer spirit beings has no real wisdom in the placement within from the manipulation of sex objects, which is bondage to the flesh, putting one's needs above their spouse and raising up self-gratification to bring honor to a new one placed as a lowercase god: the sex demon.

I would strongly recommend a full detox, going without sex for thirty full days so that one would revisit the husband or wife and gently start exploring each other again. With rubbing motions, massages, gentle caressing, and light kisses, to hardcore sex and using each other's body parts in their own partner's crevices, giving honor to Yahweh in sexual pleasure.

Cleanse from the old way. Throw away those sex objects that have become a parasite in the marriage bed. Let the sex addict detox from clogged natural sex. Come under Kingdom order and repent for yielding to sexual cravings that place oneself as the one who is more important than bringing unity in married details. Yield to each other—husband to the wife and the wife towards her own husband. Take in a full cleansing, seeking Yahweh.

POWER PRAYER

King Jesus, create in me a clean heart. And revisit me, Yahweh. Give me a love for sex as You intended. Show me how to love through natural sex and give me full, unhindered intimacy in my marriage bed. Amen.

CAN I MASTURBATE AS A CHRISTIAN?

SEERSGATE:

What exactly does it mean to masturbate? That's going to be a tough subject to understand if there is no real knowledge of how sex should be. Should a husband allow his wife to arouse him sexually with the rubbing motions of her hands? Why is this allowed, yet the act of self-stimulation is not? What is the difference?

YAHWEH:

What is the motive that drives the sexual gratification? Is there a lusting for someone? Is there pornography involved? Is there a hired person there, paid to bring you to a form of pleasure? What is driving your action? Surely, to look at a woman with lust in your heart means to Me that you have committed adultery with her without actually touching her.

Now, men, take a deep look. I have made a man to be a hungry way for the sex action, yet I never intended for a man to aim for self-gratification. Being in an intimate relationship with a spouse opens the door to touching each other, which is putting your spouse's needs before your own. A husband should aim to give his own wife the full reign, to give him sexual pleasure in a manner that is pleasing to each other.

No one in the marriage bed should take on self-gratification based on other dealings needed to bring that person to a sexual plateau. Touching each other in sexually stimulating ways is healthy in a marriage. But when a spouse turns away from the spouse given and aims to bring pleasure to their own way, there will be a doorway given to place parasites into the marriage bed that could bring heavy warfare and eventual destruction within the union.

Please stay clear of opening up doorways to anything due to the end result, causing you a union if taken to full ways. Christians and non-Christians must abide by certain natural laws in any marriage. Being a Christian will not protect you when you break a natural law, such as dealings that deal with sexual activity. Break these natural laws in marriage, and your marriage will suffer, regardless of your level of faith in the One True God. Cleanse yourself with the Word of God. Operate in the fruit of the Great Holy Spirit. Learn to communicate with your husband or wife and listen to their choices as to what brings sexual pleasure.

Listening is very important and will give that way to build bridges that can withstand any temptation, whether in the flesh or in the memory of the one who is heavy into sexual stimulation. Some will have to get set free to walk in the fullness of God's plan. Some have sex demons within that keep them heavy into needing self-gratification. There are so many ways you can be filled with, in your fleshly body, with your own spouse. Take that moment and seek God's help to learn His will in the marriage that you have connected to.

HOW TO BREAK A SOUL TIE

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

How would a person date and “end it,” thinking that no plan stands to still be under a spiritual connection with that person due to breaking up? Breaking up will not end the way you joined with the person in spiritual ways. I have slept with others while dating and noticed that I would still think of that other in a connected way. I felt that our breaking up would end that connection. But Yahweh has shown me that what must manifest is a soul break, where I would break that connection with that person by saying a prayer into the spirit realm that would break all bonds with that person.

Objects can also bring dangerous connections that must be broken with a verbal prayer, such as speaking out a power plan that would release that detail from power joinings with you. You must rid your place of all gifts of value from that relationship. Friends can also join with you in a soul tie, where they will make a vow to a person, under soulish joinings. There may even be blood joinings that the power of the Great Way King Jesus must break off. Blood joining with strangers must also be broken. Extra persons in your marriage bed—that sin must be broken. Giving of yourself in work details that have broken an emotional boundary will weaken your marriage.

Take a look at the way you lived in old relationships, friendships, and work situations. Are there any on your mental list who connect to you in spirit? How can you know it? Your heart may have left. Your body may live in another state or nation, yet it still stays with mental longing. What about ex-spouses? We need to deal with old connections. The old way must be fully released in the spirit realm, not just based on a courtroom hearing. And now is the time to break the old way from you, never bringing it back into your spirit. Here is a prayer to break soulish ties, blood covenants, and former spiritual and natural joinings.

THE PRAYER TO BREAK A SOUL TIE

Dear Father, I am seeking my delivering outlet in Your Son, King Jesus. His blood can cleanse me from all sin. Father, I need cleansing in the blood of King Jesus. Forgive me for all my sins. Forgive me for connecting, without Your blessing, to these details that will hinder my relationship with the one who is in a current relationship with me. I now renounce all witchcraft, all soulish bondage, all former lovers, all blood ties, and all dealings in Satan's nature. Now, I come in the name of King Jesus, and at this moment, I am a new creation. Father, please break off every weight in the old and give me a new vision, a Kingdom perception. In the name of King Jesus, I am now speaking to my body: You will now release every spirit that is not from God's way. I cut, I sever, and I break off all soulish ties in all ungodly joinings. Father, please send them where You choose. King Jesus, I am Your servant. I am Yours by salvation in You. I am ready to yield in how I live, and I ask You to remove all natural and spiritual joinings that would take You out of Your rightful position in my heart. Dear King Jesus, please seal any doorway that must be sealed. Please let me live a deeper joining without the added cares of the world choking my heart. Please bring me into deep, filling ways in Your Spirit. Great Way, thank You for always caring and listening. Now, I live free from the old way. Now I ask for Your help in getting rid of old sentimental objects that were on me, in my home, car, and office space. Now, I will bow and never sin with that person, for that will open that doorway again and cause significant harm to our relationship. Thank You for Your wisdom, grace, and incredible power. Amen. Amen. Amen.

AN INTRODUCTION TO SEX PTSD

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

What is Sex PTSD? Most are familiar with the Post Traumatic Stress Disorder that accompanies dealing with emotional trauma. That trauma can bring on occurrences that mimic split moments of whatever action brought a shift of acceptance within. The person dealing with deep-rooted trauma will not have a way to decide when it will take over. There is no pretending that this trauma doesn't exist.

Let's bring clarity to the meaning of trauma. The experience can vary with each person; it is authentic, the reminder of what even led within. The current action that reminds them of the trauma brings a shock, engaging them in an environmental shift. The shift can be seen, heard, or felt with human emotion. The human is made of body, soul, and spirit, able to engage demons and angels. This level of engagement refers to spiritual matters. Just as there's a possibility for a spiritual connection with a human handshake, a human can enter a room filled with angels and other spirits and take on a new way of communing through spiritual means.

Humans will have a natural seeing with their eyes, yet the spirit of each person will take in spiritual seeing. And this way of engagement is easy to initiate. Take a look at the sex industry. There is a taking of the human who has yielded and appears consensual to the deal made: sexual engagement for material or monetary resources. The one who gives their flesh is viewed as a willing participant who takes what they use for payment, but within the giving person is a shifting of a human detail that enables the person to yield. There is a raping of the soul.

Many people turn into another temperament when they act in movies or perform their music on stage. People shift within to deal with the way they perceive their environment. How come some can view the scariest horror films while others cannot even bear to watch a child's version of evil? What makes a person take in stages of shifting to take in deep trauma repeatedly? For one person, the root may be: needing to complete a covenant that cannot be revoked. Others may have nowhere else to go and would think they are damned to the street corner or the expensive cars, clothing, and houses by using their body. The human body becomes their curse.

Males will yield to giving up free sex in dating. They shift to give a male or female the sexual experience they already dreamed possible. Men engage in sexual contact with men and women, with penetration, using their mouth or anus. And the same man could then choose to go and give his same male organ in oral sex encounters with the female who yields to his counterfeit family living. Her female private way takes in whatever traits are received through the male genitals. And it's vice versa.

The human body can endure the strain and stresses, but with an invasion through verbal or physical engagement, the human can break. This level of breaking surpasses physiological dealings. And in sexual encounters, the broken human cannot fully participate in any intimate touching.

There are forms of PTSD that say there is a root shifting within the person to bring them under various ways of feeling that they returned to the trauma event. A psychological break within cannot fully heal with medicine. Is Yahweh able to bring healing even when medicines fail? Is there true healing in King Jesus? Yes! Isn't the Kingdom filled with great power? So, where is that healing power? Why is there such overwhelming sickness on the earth? Yahweh can heal. He is faithful.

And when Yahweh reveals His way in healing, a way will be made to bring an opening to receive His nature, presence, and power. And with a permeating glory level infiltrating nature, will this glory shift any broken human? Yes, God's glory can change any. To begin the healing, call out to Yahweh and say, "Yahweh, please help me!"

EMOTIONAL DETOX

YAHWEH SAYS:

Emotional abuse carries over from pain dealt with in various areas—from past, present, and other dealings that are given with casual meetings. Those in pain have a hard time feeling that they have a rightful place to leave the abuser, and they feel guilty if they want to end a relationship. Walls are placed within so they can handle the pain of being hurt over and over again.

The wounded person will not have a chance to validate how they feel, and they think that they would have the opportunity to be happy if they started pretending to be someone else and not sharing their heart. So, the ones in pain think the best options they deal with are: (a) hide their emotions or (b) get out of the relationship.

1. Focus on you.
 - a. Write Letters: This is very important to start the healing to all the pain you deal with. This will probably take a minimum of a month or more, with writing all of the letters.
2. Take some time apart from the relationship.
 - a. Do not force anyone to join up with you.
 - b. Give that person space; then, after you write your letters, share a new letter with that person from God's perspective.
3. When you say hurtful things based on pain:
 - a. Write that person a letter or talk with them.
 - b. Write out a list of all of the painful things you have done or said to that person, and then apologize.

THE POINT OF SIX MONTHS

Six months is the minimum time needed to come to clearer thinking and decision-making that is not based solely on emotion. You will be more stable to make accurate plans, which would help you take the best course of action for each situation.

If there is pain from abandonment, that needs to be dealt with. You have to get to that place (within) where you have forgiven every person who has abandoned you. The abandonment feeling makes you have a deep fear that everyone who comes into your heart will someday give you the deepest pain and never return. What God wants is for your heart to have a deep healing and get to that place within where you know that all humans can hurt each other, but despite that human flaw, you are willing to allow someone into your soul as your soulmate.

Trust must lead in your relationships. After abandonment issues have been dealt with, Yahweh can allow the opportunity for your heart to get closer to others.

When a person has hurt you, your heart—it gathers all of the pain that has been bottled up, and that pain is unleashed upon the most recent pain causer. And that person may not know why you feel such anger when all of that anger should not be solely directed towards that one person. Let Yahweh reveal your true nature in the spirit, where God looks at you and shows what is causing the pain. When Yahweh brings up painful stuff from the past, you must have a plan to come and seek out His will in what you must do to be set free.

YAHWEH SAYS:

I am never going to leave you. When you write or when you hear Me within, please know that I can see it—that you will be set free from all of the pain. Power—I have lots of power, but you are not obligated to follow what We bring you. There is free will. You get to decide what plan you're going to take. I will place options into your path. Please see it: You are the weighing gauge in how I will come and intervene, for I cannot force you. You have to willingly wait for Me and take My instructions even when it seems really hard. I will work with you. I love you. There was never a mistake in calling you into the world to be birthed.

Soul ties must be broken off of you from all the people you have joined in the spirit realm. All demonic clubs and associations that you have ever connected with—all must be broken off from the spirit portion that no one has a way to clearly see. You must know King Jesus as God and truly come under covenant in relationship with Him. If you ever plan to truly see and walk in freedom, you must be born again. And if you are a person who is connected to the Vine, King Jesus, there is no harm done by taking a time of refreshing.

Doorways must be sealed in the name of King Jesus, with His blood. Spiritual doorways will be opened in the spirit realm that can give another spirit other than God's Spirit a way to influence your thinking and decision-making. When there is a painful situation, seek Yahweh and ask Him to reveal the root of your pain. You cannot hide what's going on from Yahweh either way; to seek Yahweh includes gaining His wisdom to bring a way of release.

Doorways must be closed to be permanently set free from a demon influencing you. First, get healed in your heart from emotional pain. Second, break off demon influences. Third, close all open doorways and clean up your private house, car, and other personal places by removing those details causing demonic manifestations. A person can work through this plan in a moment or take years. The process is gauged by how the person releases their will to Him.

GAG REFLEX

SEERSGATE:

Some people love the idea of having something stuck in their mouths. Some people like the idea of jamming objects deep down their throats to gain some involuntary reflex. But why the gag reflex? Why set up that loss of control?

The feeling of being in a submissive position and losing control brings on a form of fetish, a craving. Yearning for that lack of control causes some to induce that same gag reflex when brushing their teeth or putting spoons down their mouth. Even when they eat certain foods that require tilting their head back, the thought of being suffocated or strangled brings on a form of sexual excitement. No human would state that they yearn to have something or someone cause a throw-up reaction. But they do not crave the plan of actually throwing up; just the thought of being out of control brings a high, a sexual high. But what is the root of craving the gag reflex?

YAHWEH:

Let Me answer that, servant. Who thinks about jumping out of airplanes or going out into space, or driving around a racetrack at high speeds? Didn't you jump out of a plane? What kind of individual takes dangerous risks and goes into extreme sports? What kind of person says they live "life on the edge," willing to take chances for a few moments of pleasure? Who drives at dangerous speeds to have that quick moment of near-death thrills?

Who tries to ease the mental pain with near overdoses and heavy alcohol consumption? Who has sexual engagement with multiple partners? Is that enough of a list to see a common thread in those actions? Being able to lose control is the denominator. For some, would you say that there is a longing to know that they actually have it: control?

What if the person who engages in setting off the gag reflex hopes that there is that one chance that they can prove that there is no one who can cause them the greatest pain, that there is only that individual who carries that authority to say, "here and now I make all decisions"? What if the one who causes this way of torture is crying out and saying, "I long to know that I am here, not by accident, but by real purpose."

SEERSGATE:

To give a person the leverage to restrain you is to push forward the action of losing control based on your own yielding, which is saying, "I choose who I will let hurt me or bring me to a near-death." Look at the man who lets a dominating woman put a ball inside his mouth to hold a form of power. What about the woman who is gagged and sexually assaulted in the marriage bed?

YAHWEH:

Those who deal with abandonment struggle with this. And not every abandoned person would use the gag reflex to test their level of control over their own destiny. Many who are walking in this way defy Yahweh's authority or others by taking away ways to govern their thoughts and life's actions. For some, abandonment issues or not feeling they have control is why some hate the government or any form of leadership.

SEERSGATE:

How would a person deal with the painful dealings of trying to face authority and abandonment issues? Would a prayer be enough to "fix" this yearning for attention?

YAHWEH:

I can fix any issue, servant. Isn't it important to note what is driving that person to walk in that nature? Healing must also take place. Christian counseling and therapy are also healthy outlets. I give doctors forms of wisdom that help solve root problems. When the root of the pain is not dealt with, there will always be an open door that brings continual pain.

So, one person may use an extreme detail to see their way of being able to have leverage over how they live and who can cause them painful dealings. A person who has another carry out actions that cause suffocation by restraining their breathing is placing their heart of living into the hands of a tangible source. What human can heal their nature with new clothing and a new weight loss way? The root as to why the human character has painful ways must have a dealing with. That says: buying new clothes, being thin, and having a large social media presence will not bring healing. That is why so many influential people take on extreme activities, stimulants, and ways of attention-grabbing with provocative photos and posts so they can use a natural act as a mask to cover how they are.

One person can state how they are now seeing that craving person and lace their comments with harsh words that cause a new break in the craving person. How will the craving person handle that? Some would verbally fight back. Some will show more loose actions intended to shock others. Some will aim to get attention by attempting to take their own life. Some will go into drugs, alcohol, dare-devil actions, or other careless living. Some want to know how far they can push the life chain to see if there will be the gamble on death without being redeemed.

“Will it kill me? How close can I get to losing real control?”

“Why live a boring life, serving a God I cannot feel, look at, or build god-like images to?”

“Why live without the thrill of knowing that at any moment, my life would end?”

Some are in so much pain. Seersgate, didn't you cut yourself? You were a cutter, and it looked as if you were not able to find real love. You cut yourself to have someone at the hospital take care of you; someone who did not know you gave you a caring way. They did not believe that you cut your hand by going through your drawer, and they did not look down on you otherwise.

But many church people are self-righteous and judgmental, turning their noses down on others who dealt with painful childhood experiences. How many know that you were a sexual way full of grave sexual actions? You were a sex addict. You were hungry to watch all forms of filth and thought I could never let you in to have the power of My Kingdom. What did I demand? Clean hands and a pure heart. How? By letting Me get close to show you those actions that were not pleasing to Me.

I had to take you, remake you, and rip out painful experiences through prayer and natural counseling. You have many years serving in various church buildings, and your family had you in churches most of your growing up. And now, after thirty years of stripping you, you still are not perfect. But am I looking for perfect people, or do We want willing vessels who yield and serve Yahweh in willing ways?

The craving to jam balls or other objects in your mouth during bondage actions is to crave a form of yielding your life over to another person. And I want the ones who say that that is filth even to want that action to see themselves living a filtered way. Everyone wants some form of attention. But how would a person know real love and hinder others from suffocating them, putting them on a risk alert? Real love has to stem from an outside source, but not from another human who gives a wavering stance on unconditional love.

SEERSGATE:

So, love is what that person is really longing for, yet tangible objects and other humans are used in the place of a powerful unseen God whose love fills every pain with fulfillment, purpose, and hope in a constant source of attention. How are we to learn how to have a new perspective, a change in how we care for this temple of the Lord, the human body?

YAHWEH:

First, come into the Kingdom by asking for the erasing of the old way. Give them the prayer of salvation.

Dear Jesus, I ask You to forgive me of all of my sins. I ask You to save me. I have turned my back on You, but now I come to You. Please cleanse me from all unrighteousness. Please heal me. Please heal me in every area of my life. Most importantly, please come to live within me. I want to know You. I want to have a relationship with You. I am Yours. I am Yours forever, my God, my King, and I choose to serve You for the rest of my days. Thank You, Lord, for dying for me and for saving me. I receive all that You have for me. I look forward to being with You forever. Amen.

YAHWEH CONTINUES:

This prayer is not a fix-it prayer. That means that even once in Yahweh's Kingdom, there would still be a plan that may require counseling or self-help to learn how to become a mentally healed person. My salvation covenant that became active with you once the prayer was spoken in heartfelt ways does not heal your heart from all the bad actions dealt with. There may even still be addictions, abandonment, painful curses, and other actions from uncaring souls that may have a hold over a person.

But when a person is in Yahweh's covenant of Kingdom citizenship, there is a constant way of love that yields from Yahweh's heart, My heart. I am there to bring healing and wholeness. I am there to help you with those heartless ones who bring pain. I love all of My creation, yet I deal with sinful actions accordingly. And when there is a painful memory that is causing you torture, come and talk to Us about how you are feeling. Tell Me how much you need answers. I will guide you.

Also, consider getting advice from counselors from a real Christian-based outlet, a group that follows My will in Scripture. Write down your prayers as letters, bringing them to Me. And cry if you need to. And tell the truth when you are in My presence. Transparency will work well when dealing with a natural counselor as well as with your Great Yahweh.

I love you.

One prayer will not bring you a full healing when there is that longing to hold on to the past. Let that old way go. Come forward and write, journal, pray, and confess—whichever way will bring a close prayer time. And each day, as we get closer by prayer and worship, you will turn, and you will gradually take on a heart that has a way to love those who hurt you. What must be done is a continual prayer, always asking Me to check your nature, actions, and motives for the way you live. No, there may not be a whisper or a barely-there voice you hear that makes you know My will better, but My Bible has all the answers to guide you.

SEERSGATE:

Recap: The person with the gag reflex craving has a base root of needing an outside force, usually a dominating person, to test their ability to control their way of staying viable and "in control" of their own destiny. And this way of craving dangerous feats stems from involuntarily losing control in some former way and is acted out with extreme activities to test where they think the control or power over life stands; this is to see whether by outside influences or by their own hand will their life be taken, still at will.

YAHWEH:

And people will use the gag reflex in various ways to cause that sexual buildup to come. And when there is that excitement to feel suffocation, their craving for sexual pleasure takes on a new level. Some are not able to have an orgasm unless they are gagged or have a form of bondage or restraint. And their sex mate will have to take on that craving with an approach of being the one who controls. With the right amount of torture, the demon of control has a leading way. It shifts from gentle foreplay into breaking a person's natural way of being able to sustain their own breath.

SEX DEMON

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Ever since I was a little kid, I have been bombarded with sexual displays on the TV and in newspapers, magazines, and any other way that would give access to words and photos that contain sexual details to give outlets for arousal. Going to the local mall is a different situation, for clothing stores cater to the least dressed detail to get young men and women entangled with their culture, influencing the way they live.

With women competing, there is a battle between each other. Women want to know who shows the best cleavage, wears the tightest pants, and wears details to cause other men to look their way. Then, men will do a competition, where they take their women out and make them think they are pretty if they look and act as cultural influencers. Here, I will say I'm all about feeling pretty and being sex-driven in the marriage bed. Here is where I will say, "Men, keep your heart, and look on your own woman that you have at home." How can anyone truly compete with photo enhancers?

How can a Christian woman keep her husband's attention with a great deal that would cause him to fall into spiritual bondage? Should a person think they must behave as the television says will be needed? No, for Yahweh has given a sex book in His Holy Word known as the Song of Solomon.

Can sex be pure? It can be when blessed by Yahweh.

The act of sex is not evil, for the Great Way made us for purposes such as to reproduce offspring and enjoy each other under the marriage covenant. There should be freedom in sex with your own spouse, where you learn each other's sexual needs and maintain deep fillings that will tame a deep sexual hunger.

How does the sex demon come into play? Sex demons take a holy act and turn it into a way that would bring a moving of Satan's nature into that other person's life. How can sex change into something that is displeasing to the Great King? It's revealed in the true motive. Here are some points to ponder: Are you committing fornication or adultery? Just with those two details, you are following Satan's sex demon. Are you in incest, the victim of a sex act? You will not be looked at as if you led it, but this way of sexual engagement will have to be broken off by the Great King.

There must be a pure way humans view a sex act. Television has shifted a sexual act to make it as common as putting gasoline in your vehicle or cooking a meal for dinner. The perception of sex must change, where sex is not seen as "dirty" by Christians, and they will then properly educate children and young adults concerning God's design for sex.

The movies or sex acts in magazines should not train our children. There will be curiosity in children and a person lacking experience, where they will want to learn more so they will not feel odd about the culture. That's where church leaders should take on Sex Education.

Where is authentic learning? Should not the Church train young men and women to be better mentors, parents, and teachers? Shouldn't the Church train young couples about how a sexually fulfilled relationship should be? But wouldn't this cause the Church parts to deal with God, which would bring a deep release into how they operate? And with God's help, churches can have the lead in steering the city.

What about the nation? What if the Church structure groomed all? The Government has replaced how the Church governs. The Church should be the outlet for body, soul, and spirit. What is the purpose of the Government? To govern different lands. But under what authority? The Church? No. A natural leader? No. A charismatic leader who hears from the One who created all? No. Then, by what principles should a nation train in governing?

The principles in Scripture carry major weight in discerning, training, and within the laws of spiritual and natural avenues.

It's the principles of the Scriptures that should sustain the land. A person may wonder if that saying will deal with being under the Old Testament Books. But what if all Books in Scripture give insight into governing? Will it change a nation if they choose the way given within? There would then be a shift in responsibility, where each person would shift from being self-pleasing to esteeming, wanting to build up that way, which will recolonize Earth, as was first done with Adam and Eve.

We have the Kingdom, but do we practice it? This discussion has a great deal to do with the sex demon. Bringing Kingdom order is "removing its authority and replacing it with Kingdom priestly ways that will heal, build up, and restore."

Valuing yourself will also lead to healthy sex. Eating healthy will give you a more attractive option for your love in marriage. But beyond the natural engagement of sex is a spiritual soul tie that stays till broken; for each person you connect with in this way, it will be a real bonding with you. Removing all past engagements would require breaking off the old way. "Sex is good," so speaks Yahweh. Pure sex is good. Operating under the Kingdom order produces healthy fruit.

VOYEURISM DEMON

SEERSGATE:

I dreamed a dream that was not in Yahweh's nature. The focus of the dream took place in a sex store, and it gave others a longing in sinner ways against the King. Many demons were involved in this nudity and lusting feast.

THE GREAT WAY:

Sexual demons were the plan that you moved in before you came into My Kingdom. Sexual demons are more than lust: They would make you sleep with any and make you unashamed enough to walk around naked and publicly show sexual acts with others.

Voyeurism is also a demon. That demon once lived within you. You enjoyed having others watch you do any detail, but since that demon has been expelled, you hate it when people watch you walk down the street. A demon can bring this on to want attention based on how sexual you can be.

Voyeurism is a root demon infiltrating a prominent social media detail. Many on this social media outlet have cheated in their souls and committed adultery by looking at others who go on this web service showing their cleavage, legs, and sexual ways. Many have a great deal of their body showing so that others would lust after their way. Many enjoy others watching their way.

Advertisements target men and women. Websites use games and other seamless, harmless details to get a person hooked. And with that game, they post pictures of sexual temptation throughout the platform, giving the person many ways to fall and sin in their hearts. Married men are weak if their guard is down. They would become a habitual cheater when they serve this voyeur demon through the eye gates.

Many people are hooked, and many women willingly share a sexual way to look at, to make a competitive way with others.

All do not walk in this way.

Christians also want to be here. The way to get people to join this way is to let them share personal plans in hopes that others would listen and give their undivided attention. I will make it plain: The method of engagement utilized on social media platforms stems from a significant demon-based influence.

SEX CAN BE FORCED...WITH A PRICE

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

What would give a person the right to take away a freedom that gives the victim no worth in the eyes of the one breaking a physical boundary? It must not have much meaning, as in a loving relationship. What is the "it" that I am speaking of here? Sexual invasion.

What if sex is not what the person wants? What if there is an underlying attribute? What is the rape victim supposed to feel with any sexual encounter once the violation is done? To place all rape victims in one grouping is to put all verbal or physical abusers under the same weight of hurtful behavior.

No one deserves any form of abuse, even if they "beg" for the painful treatment in bondage sex acts. I will place the wording in a clear plan. Some people beg to have beatings while having sexual encounters. Some beg for painful touching while with their significant other. Where will it have a meaning as a plan that is forced? When the boundary of the person receiving the encounter says that the sexual contact violated them. Then you must look at the one who has been drugged before the act of sexual grabbing and rape. Would the lack of saying "no" open the door for a person to take a crossing in boundary to impose sexual actions forcibly?

No means no, no matter what language, but would body language say "yes"?

Let's have a look at it. Television gives many false impressions of how a woman should carry herself. The ads make it seem like the woman has a longing for male attention and should dress the part and give a viewing of a sexual way to play in the game. But what game could be deadlier than a prey lost in thinking that her sexual treats can keep another person's attention? One look. One smile. One glance. That should show the person that a woman could wear bricks and still receive harassment.

What about attacks on a man? That's also a domination plan that would break the violated one.

Have a look at the base root of such shameful behavior. To dominate and display a forceful sex act is considered a method of conquering someone who has broken your boundaries. That person may trigger that plan to want to be aggressive, even though they were not the party who gave you that longing to hurt.

I will not excuse it, the act of violence. We just lay a few deep-rooted details within one who may venture this way. Taking sex without permission can give the aggressive man or woman a plan to release their anger into a person. So, see here that the nature of anger resides within the aggressive one.

Satan will rape many people as a show of power. I know the painful act of being violated, not by a human but by a spirit. I also know that Satan-based gatherings will give a plan that will mate with demons and unwilling humans. And Satan's workers take on that horrid nature and aim to impart as many demons into a human as given within. That form of power will be viewed as domination and should have that viewpoint within.

Demons are raping victims, transferring many demons into the person. People are raping children and placing demons within so that the demon will be harder to dislodge as the child ages. Other humans are transferring powerful demons through rape. Millions are being purchased for willing sex—sex they agree to take on, yet not knowing the way they move in has come down to whether to give up all the other wants and settle for being purchased for a meal.

What can break this plan of forced sex? Salvation in King Jesus gives entry into the Kingdom of God. Healing in King Jesus can set a person free from every painful experience within. The power of Christ, the Great Way King Jesus, is the ultimate power, able to bring deliverance to the person who moves in this nature. The blood of the Great Way brings healing that will cover the sin. You do not have to live a wounded outcast way, for God has given a plan that will save you but has also provided a way to drink healing. That healing comes with a release of your way.

You can seek healing in body, soul, and spirit. Why hold on to the painful plan you received in the violation? Now, you truly can be set free. Release to the Great King every painful memory, every person who has hurt you, every deep-rooted issue you have dealt with. Release the pain to King Jesus. Allow God's healing balm to cover your scars and make it all a way that can be touched.

You must truly see that forcing sex on others brings spiritual torture. And this form of torture takes over the one who violates a person. Now is a great moment to ask Yahweh to bring healing, wholeness, and restoration to what was stolen. Yahweh can heal the wounded places and give real hope—active and tangible hope through His love. You are His beloved if you are a Kingdom citizen. But if you choose and are not in covenant with Yahweh, please take a moment to speak to Him. The covenant of salvation is the first step. Pray this prayer to come under the Kingdom covenant in King Jesus:

Dear Jesus, I ask You to forgive me of all of my sins. I ask You to save me. I have turned my back on You, but now I come to You. Please cleanse me from all unrighteousness. Please heal me. Please heal me in every area of my life. Most importantly, please come to live within me. I want to know You. I want to have a relationship with You. I am Yours. I am Yours forever, my God, my King, and I choose to serve You for the rest of my days. Thank You, Lord, for dying for me and for saving me. I receive all that You have for me. I look forward to being with You forever. Amen.

And for a moment of healing, let's pray together and drink Yahweh's will:

Great King Jesus, I am alone. I have painful, wounded dealings that plague me. How do I know that You will stand with my will except when I release my will and join within to Your heart? Please help me look at what has happened as a painful experience, yet realize You came to set us free. The power within Your Kingdom is able to help me endure those previous painful experiences and guard my way with a powerful detail of Your Word. Your Word can never fail. And You said that You would give me the strength to overcome because You overcame the world. I ask for a release of cleansing in Your blood from You so that the healing part will consume my spirit. Take me through the healing process. Break off every soul plan joined through the past. I yield to Your purpose. Let my life honor You with a great save from the ways that moved against You. King Jesus, I'm glad You are with me. I take this first step by faith, and with each step, I look in Your nature within Your Word for the peace of God that surpasses all understanding. Amen.

SEX IN THE WORKPLACE

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

Have you ever thought about having sex with a coworker? What would be appealing to you in moving in this way? Can sex be a freeing experience and gauged as if it ranks a level on the same line as sending an e-mail? When did sex at work become the “normal” way? With our many entertainment outlets, many think it is okay to engage in casual sex. But Yahweh disagrees.

You must truly see how being sexually involved with a coworker would bring down morale in the workplace. How will your work for that business take on a new dimension after engaging in casual sex? The guilt of the act can be overwhelming. Trying to find a place to sneak away would give any person a significant fear of being found out and exposed.

Making eye contact with that person while working after sexual encounters is intimidating and will bring a rift in communication. Accidental touching at work will lead to a slip in comments. The jealousy will flare up as you realize you will never be the only one. The person may have his or her own spouse who comes in for visits, yet no one will say what is truly going on. Most think they can hide the encounters with excused private texts and secret phone calls.

Having secret sex with a coworker might appear fun on the exterior, but the turmoil within the human is great. The surprise of knowing the coworker’s naked body is gone; all that is left is a stale fling that stays with you every day at work and in your thoughts at night. Then, the fear of calling out the other person’s name is clearly in your heart, and with each sexual act, you hope no slip of the tongue will happen.

The marriage bed should be freely yielded sex where no other person breaks down that boundary and takes what is just for you. Why would anyone choose to live this way of secret sex with others? Boredom in a marriage relationship is a top excuse. True fulfillment should not ever stem from what another human gives.

Why would any human feel bored when God gives real purpose? No human can ever fill every dull moment you may carry. God is the only One who can give you the needed attention you lack at home by filling your spirit with His love and nature. The person thinks they will satisfy the other person's significant other yet fails to truly see that if their secret lover has a wounded way, there will be nothing in the sex act able to heal that wounded soul.

Sex should never be a tool for giving comfort. Craving sex with strangers may be deeply rooted in a demon-based influence. That would be like someone who finds comfort from eating all they long for. However, many people will learn that natural engagement will never fill the human spirit; only the Great Way King Jesus can give you the deepest way of feeling pure-flowing love.

You can choose to have sex as often as you can handle with that stranger, but why bring down your worth for a pay raise or false attention?

Don't yield to sexual harassment at work. Don't accept bullying. Don't hesitate to stop that unwanted sexual advance. It is okay to acknowledge the person who compliments you yet invite no further engagement. For example, if someone tells you, "You are good-looking," it's okay to give a nod or a verbal "Thank you" but end the conversation after that brief engagement.

Why have such a deep longing for attention from strangers? It's because a lot of people have not learned where their true worth stems from. Yahweh can give you the attention you need, and He will be able to tell you who you truly are. If you still think you need that stranger's love to be happy and would rather risk losing all for a sexual encounter, no one can stop you. Yahweh would have to intervene before a dangerous way presented itself. Yahweh cares deeply and is fully aware of the loneliness you deal with. God cares for the wounded. He cares for the abused.

The Kingdom of God is here. You can have a true surging of great power to stay under the healing rain of God. Don't worry; Yahweh can help you. He can also set you free from the painful ways of joining with strangers at the workplace.

King Jesus loves you, and He wants to meet with you. Do not fear. Just take a moment right now and ask Yahweh to help. Stay with the Great Holy Spirit; let Him guide you into all truth. Let your life be holy and pleasing to Yahweh with a full restoration. Now, look at your life using God's Kingdom perspective, not human striving. Allow Yahweh to transform your work into a work of purpose. Drink Yahweh's wisdom and trust Him with the details. Amen.

POWER PRAYER

Yahweh, the need for attention overwhelms me into feeling the need to be a people-pleaser. Yahweh, please show me how to live a humble and holy life, willing to yield to how You would desire for me to move as. Yahweh, King of the universe, I need to know that there is a power greater than Satan's way that can break every chain of oppressive actions. Please bring a surging forward that will break off all addictions from Satan's nature. For every craving not in Your plan for me, please bring awareness. Open my spirit to Your surging of power, wisdom, and discernment to see what deceptive ways are coming forward. I need You. I ask you to please humble my spirit so that I may take in Your nature and live a holy way unto You.

PHONE SEX AND STRIP CLUBS

SEERSGATE LEADS IT:

“What is phone sex?” some people may wonder. Phone sex is when someone pays a person to say provocative sayings over the phone to bring them sexual pleasure or to help the one who called to reach a sexual climax. But why would some people do this, make phone calls, and talk to a stranger when dealing with a matter so intimate? The reasons may vary, but the central void is clear: a lack of intimacy with Yahweh.

How does intimacy with Yahweh through prayer, communion, and fellowship with His people bring fulfillment meant to appease the sexual way? Take a look at this Scripture:

(1) Therefore, I urge you, brothers and sisters, in view of God’s mercy, to offer your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and pleasing to God—this is your true and proper worship. (2) Do not conform to the pattern of this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind. Then you will be able to test and approve what God’s will is—His good, pleasing and perfect will.

—Romans 12:1-2 NIV

This is a complex concept for many to embrace, the idea that a Great God observes how we maintain His temple, the human body. As followers of King Jesus, our bodies should be under Kingdom order. But what would a phone call with masturbation to the moaning and the heavy breathing of the one on the line produce? It is a form of defilement.

What about strip clubs? Should a Christian go and view men or women taking off their clothes? No, this way of sexual temptation steers the person to crave the man or woman revealing their nakedness. King Jesus says in the Book of Matthew,

(27) "You have heard that it was said, 'You shall not commit adultery.' (28)
But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

—Matthew 5:27-28 NIV

You don't even have to have actual intercourse to commit adultery from your heart. This is King Jesus' way of looking at lust. So, why place your heart in that position to lust and crave a person who isn't yours? Why place your heart in that position where you visualize having sex with them, seeing their face while engaging with your spouse? Why carry pictures on your phone of what you saw on the Internet? The images will spiritually drain you. The hiding of magazines and strip club receipts is not hidden in Yahweh's vision.

Yahweh sees everything even if your spouse never knows. Who are you honoring when you live a fake Christian life? To live for Christ is not about pretending. Man looks at the outside, but Yahweh looks at the heart. And your heart may spew up many things within that will not bring glory to Yahweh or show honor to the marriage. Stay away from the phone calls of sexually based ways. Look to asking Yahweh to help you find a spouse if single. If married, spend time with your spouse to look within the married way for where there needs improvement.

And start checking or gauging what you view on social media. The peer pressure will weigh heavily, and you may fear rejection. What if your old friends always had a "good time" at the strip club? Then consider new friends, those close to you who influence you. You will have unsaved (non-Christian) friendships and acquaintances, but never should anyone turn you against serving King Jesus, and you willingly allow it. You may not be able to make your friends serve Yahweh and honor His way of living, but no Christian should feel that they need that friendship over doing what is pleasing to Yahweh.

Let your body, Yahweh's temple, be a pleasing way. Clean hands and a pure heart. Seek Yahweh for a cleansing. Pray and ask for wisdom to know which way to go or what to say. But you know Yahweh's will concerning honoring Him and His Word. Do so.

YAHWEH SPEAKS:

Now, seersgate, let Me yield a statement. It may look like a human would not get any demons in the strip club. They think that the "look and not touch" plan will keep the demons out of their personal way. The chains built upon lusting will cause natural rifts and will lead to craving greater flesh fillings. And soon, the person takes on a spiritual addiction, requiring someone to continually fill the fake way they drink from the adult industry workers.

Yahweh distances from the one who has placed the addiction in the lowercase placing of their god. Yahweh will step away and let the person govern how they think. Their spiritual chains turn into a weakness against the ability to ward off temptation. And with the break in putting Yahweh first, demonic spirits will begin to offer a way to maintain the craving. And the one who barely looked at a woman would turn and drink sexual cravings that strip them of valuable relationships, leading to separating from coming under Kingdom order. Nothing is worth losing your soul over.

THE MAN WITH THE WANDERING EYE

June 1, 2023

5:01 a.m.

YAHWEH IS LEADING:

I gave you a dream about a man trying to drive a car but also had a large screen in his car that gave distracting images. The wife sat in the passenger's seat and didn't want him viewing naked breasts. The woman asked the husband if he liked what he saw, and he told her, "Yes, her package was really nice." The woman noticed it didn't matter if she sat beside him; he would turn to whatever seemed more appealing. And then she wondered, "Would that be enough to get me out of this dead married way?"

How many women are dealing with men who look away when something with more curves or bigger cleavage walks into the room or appears on the Internet placing? How will a woman not in the best shape compete with social media filters? If she wants to look at his phone, it would look as if she doesn't give him any space, and it would look like they do not have a good relationship.

Today's relationship parasites bringing destruction to a relationship will truly need Me to bring healing and a needed encasing with a protective placing. How can women, real women, compete with media filters or platforms where people can manipulate a live audience? What will a real woman do with looking regular?

See it. People may put filters on their pictures, maybe to hide a belly or undereye dark circles, for example. And within a form of reasoning, they may say, "What if I change my real DNA features, showing a way of looking like another woman in the presentation?" There are deep-rooted issues to make your appearance look like you are somebody else. Sure, most people have a recent enough, within ten years of taking it, picture that they feel shows them off well. And it is okay to use photos of that length in timing if it reflects your happiest moment. What has taken over is another will in the people who come forward: they use deceptive ways to make people think they look like a completely different person within their DNA. This way of false looks will lower a woman's feelings about her body and make her take actions that seem to bring some relief.

But will the man with a wandering eye care that she is losing weight? Will he keep looking at others he will never take in? Will he get small mini erections when near a woman who gives him a little attention? The saying to say from the human: "The grass seems greener on the other lot," should be considered. Your woman may not be well-educated candy in your presentation to make you look good. She may have cellulite or may need a wig. She may take in regular work plans you do not consider real work. She may not be your type. Well, would you think you are the perfect man? Do you need some makeovers? Are you driven into what she would want to make love to, or are you nasty with the way you take care of yourself? And what if you do take care of yourself? Would she be of any less worth if she doesn't wear makeup? And what if she feels pretty in dress-up clothing?

Reevaluating a marriage is important. Every six natural months, there should be a review. Are you both heading in the same view, getting closer to eternity with Me? But would even a Christian human have these pesky demons called lust hindering their relationship? But what if the human host wants to keep seeing perverse viewings to feel he is alive? Wouldn't it benefit the marriage bed if spouses came forward saying the real way, telling that person, with a loving, truly caring approach, that they would feel more appreciated or interested or attracted to the other if the one worked on certain placements that can have reason to be achieved? Yes, people can lose weight, and he can bring her a "love" endearment, and she can wear a night attire he may crave, but will a wandering eye be dealt with?

The woman in the dream would stay married to him if he paid attention to her. She fights his phone and game addictions. She cannot live up to how social media gives these fake women. She cannot spy on him when he is working, getting erections with the women who come in wearing even work clothes. He needs a decision-breaking moment where he faces losing her. And he is in need of a spiritual cleansing, with Yahweh taking his old way and bringing him eternal living in King Jesus.

What woman or man hasn't taken a glance at an attractive person? If they say they didn't, they aren't being real or truthful, for unless they are without vision, the nature of men and women has a craving to be in a coupling. And drawing them into a form of the hunt will be the way to look. It's a natural placement to notice but break away to state, "There is real honor to my Lord and the person in my joining with." When a person does not look away after taking a moment to acknowledge the pretty person, they reveal their real heart, and there is a love to lust and enter into a sin placement. Put it right here, servant.

(27) "You have heard that it was said, 'You shall not commit adultery.' (28)
But I tell you that anyone who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart.

—Matthew 5:27-28 NIV

YAHWEH CONTINUES:

Look at this Scripture. I gave it. But what do I mean? Exactly what it says.

So, here is a real heart way to see it. Only Yahweh knows what is in a person's soul, heart, and real way of thinking. But there are details that show through a person to reveal their true way. For example, if you never give your spouse a hug, tell them you love them, take time to be with them, check in on them, or show others what they do, would it be fair to say there may be a place within your way where you really have no deep longing to be with them? You're embarrassed to say what they do for a living. And women: you don't want your female friends to know you make more than him. You don't want to show others where you live because he couldn't pay for the great big place you told the fake friends you were hoping to get. And the list goes on. And man, you can see it. The woman is not good at putting on makeup. Say what you think is pretty. Women just really need to hear that they mean something to you, and you think she is pretty. Tell her. Don't make her beg.

The heart is what Yahweh looks at within and reviews it in spiritual ways. See. This woman in the dream feels neglected, not the woman he wants to be showing off to his friends. He pretends he isn't with anyone on social media, and would it be okay if she did?

What if one is a Christian and the other isn't? Having a neglecting husband isn't grounds for separation. But I will yield encouragement: you take seasons to work on yourself. Take in real friendships. You cannot make any person serve Yahweh. They will need to bend on their own. Live for King Jesus by loving in unconditional ways. But don't let others bring you abusive ways. You don't need to be the martyr. Don't beg anyone to appreciate your way. See yourself in a greater placement than to be poorly treated. And reconsider couples therapy or ways to bring healing to wounded places within.

You do not have to be fake. You can be real and see who will love you just the way you live.

Let Me share a prayer with you. Keep it within, and when you need a moment to say these words, I will be here.

"Dear Yahweh. I'm tired. I am feeling this pain of being neglected. Where do I turn? Who will say my pain is real? What he lives in his private ways, I cannot change. I want him to serve You, but that is not my mission to try and save him. I know You really do care. Let me get within the real safe place held in You. I seek You. Please help me to live a life that brings honor to You and not try and take revenge for all the hard places I've walked.

I can only surrender how I live and trust You with the remaining ways. I am one flesh with this man who is in actions that are not honoring Your way, but I give this marriage into Your hands. Please be the Way, the Truth, the Life, within it.”

HOW MUCH CLEAVAGE IS SAFE?

SEERSGATE SAYS:

The cleavage is a very touchy subject that makes it seem that everyone will fall under lustful dealings if they take a moment to look at a busty chest. Is it how big they lay in the shirt? Or is it how they can seem exposed? —Just all it takes is a quick pull.

Is that what makes a woman sleazy? Or is it the manner of presentation that will cause a man or woman to fall into lust-filled ways? Where should we say it's too much? What is the boundary? A woman's body shape will not determine the boundaries of lusting. People will lust after what they find will draw them into sexual release. That forward motion of seeing, envisioning, then lusting—the enabling comes from various manners.

The demon of lust can overthrow the man who leads with a godly presentation. It's not just seeing a woman's body; a man or woman might also engage in lustful actions based on dealing with levels of demons joined within with the lust demon. Those who love their wives can still deal with the adverse dealings of the demon of lust.

Lust fills the heart and will cause a deep craving that cannot be removed by staying sexually active within your marriage.

Yahweh must lead in the way we yield in seeing a body shape. The under part of the breast provides a form that will bring a deep temptation. So, what is the limit to reveal? Where is the chest too revealing? Does your outfit give the entire shape, or can your breast be seen without undressing? Is there a visual of the nipple?

The eyes are drawn to view the outlined shape of a person. It's a curious way that drives a lot of people to look.

Some women are obsessed with comparing their breasts to other women. Women compete, from hairstyles to the clothing line. There is a longing to look a certain way based on Television viewing.

Yet, when they look at the TV and the magazine layouts, most truly forget the tremendous effort placed within each product using filters and graphic art programs to bring this eye-wonder view that is next to impossible to recreate in your personal space.

Will there ever be real women and men? This discussion has nothing to do with having surgery to become a certain way. This discussion has something to do with being your better version of who you are presenting. We should be content with what God gives while also taking the option to better what we have based on knowing what we are purposed to become.

You may want bigger breasts to feel pretty, but having bigger breasts will not make you feel more beautiful. It will bring you the needed attention, both good and bad. Having breast surgery is not bad. You must weigh why within your heart and not aim to look like a beauty you admire.

What is God saying? Let's seek Him.

THE GREAT WAY SAYS:

I will tell you this plan that will set a great deal truly free. I created a woman to give a way to bring a viewing within the man to need to look and admire. But with this looking, there is no lusting that should follow. This is freeing to a great deal who will notice a pretty person and would quickly return to their seeing before the view.

Will people see it, that lusting is not a quick glance to see who is walking near or moving in the background? From a person's heart will the way be given to take in the next phase, to give into longing in sexual ways for that person.

I have made it where being married will not make you naturally blind. Out of your love for Me and your joining to your dear soulmate in marriage should respect be given. I will be the only way to discern what is within the person's full way. I will tell the person if they have sinned and if they should turn away.

I have dealings within a plan of seeing to show that person that they are veering into a sin-filled way. But there is free will. I cannot make a man take in his bride as a beautiful way. I cannot make the bride feel as if she is a queen when she chooses her viewing of others as her gauge of beauty.

Taste and see. Drink Me. It truly is a beautiful woman who gives a loving husband her body to cherish in a sexual dealing, but there is no sin with being a beauty in the culture by maintaining a certain look that draws attention.

No lusting is permitted—but honoring the woman as a created being and respecting her in a natural viewing shall be pleasing to Yahweh. What limit is clearly safe? It's the initial top curving of the shape, where nothing given underneath the top will clearly take a leading way. I had you place a gauge as to what is a good boundary.

THE GREAT YAHWEH CONTINUES:

There will be some who will see this as offensive yet walk down the halls of the local mall and share with Us even greater webs of layers of viewing.

There is no sinful way given in your photo, even though you wonder if it is too revealing. With the woman, body shapes and sizes will not sync. This is where it's really important to learn what God would state in that situation.

When there is a weakness, do not offer a little viewing that would make that weakened person fall and lust. Just as with drinking wine, if there is a person gathered who would have offended ways with that engagement, spare the temptation to make them fall under pressure by trying to appear stronger, to be with you in a unity plan.

Be careful; I will not send a woman to the Hell for showing too much cleavage. It's adultery that is weighed, yet it's a double-edged problem. The man looks at what is given, yet the woman blames the man for staring.

Coming under Kingdom order and embracing what God is seeing—it's the safest plan, but will also learning protocols and guidelines for various situations give healing and bring peaceful engagement? Yes.

Part Three

YAHWEH IS SPIRIT

WHAT IS GOD REALLY LIKE?

SUSANNA OPENS THE DISCUSSION:

Which “god” are we referring to? I worship Yahweh, also known as I AM, from Exodus chapter 3. My reasoning for coming to you today is to build up your faith and to encourage you. When you know that there is a God out there who may or may not look or resemble what you hope, it shapes your perspective a little bit better.

I talk a lot about demons, Satan, and spiritual warfare, mainly because my training gave me those outlets so I can be aware of the enemy’s plan. Yahweh gives training to prepare us for what is ahead, and based on what requirement is needed, He will ensure you are ready ahead of time. He does not give you more than you can bear according to His written word.

No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and He will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation He will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.

—1 Corinthians 10:13 ESV

But that refers to temptation, for God will provide a way of escape. But what about knowing Yahweh, His nature, and how Yahweh engages the general public? Is Yahweh distant? Does He care when problems come?

We are not guaranteed wealth, health, or happiness. We are told to endure to the end (Matthew 24:13). We are told that we are more than conquerors in Christ (Romans 8:37-39). We are told we will be persecuted for our faith for even associating with Christ King Jesus (2 Corinthians 4:7-12, Matthew 10:22, John 15:19–20).

The world will persecute you, including those you may know—all for standing with King Jesus. Persecution is a part of the Christian walk and should be expected. But what about knowing God? What is He really like?

If you look in the Gospels (the first four books of the New Testament), you will gain an understanding of how Yahweh King Jesus walked the earth and how He carried out a three-year preparation phase and ministry for twelve disciples, preaching repentance and how the Kingdom is at hand. You will learn how the disciples worshipped Yahweh King Jesus, and King Jesus did not refuse that worship. They called Him the Son of God (Matthew 14:22-33, Matthew 16:13-20, John 20:24-29).

Pay careful attention to yourselves and to all the flock, in which the Holy Spirit has made you overseers, to care for the church of God, which He obtained with His own blood.

—Acts 20:28 ESV

Now, some would say, “That is not how it really looks because Jesus was born. How could He be God?” If you review the Hypostatic Union, there would be clarity as to how this is possible: King Jesus being both God and man, carrying two natures.

Here is how the “Got Questions” website breaks it down, and this is an accurate representation:

“Jesus’ two natures, human and divine, are inseparable. Jesus will forever be the God-man, fully God and fully human, two distinct natures in one Person. Jesus’ humanity and divinity are not mixed, but are united without loss of separate identity. Jesus sometimes operated with the limitations of humanity (John 4:6, 19:28) and other times in the power of His deity (John 11:43; Matthew 14:18-21). In both, Jesus’ actions were from His one Person. Jesus had two natures, but only one personality.”

SUSANNA CONTINUES:

Now, to many people, King Jesus comes over as a loving God who accepts all sin and lets “love” take over, allowing people to do whatever they feel is the right way. Here is the problem with that: at the end of all things being settled, it is this very same God King Jesus, who will judge all, open the seals mentioned in Revelation, and come back and slay His enemies (2 Corinthians 5:10, Revelation 20:11-15, Revelation 5:1-14).

You may wonder, “Wow, how can there only be this fake kind of human love that social media, churches, and influencers have presented?” Maybe those in those groupings are afraid to speak up and say the entire news. One portion says God is only love, but only looking at the love side of Yahweh would lead you to think that He tolerates sinful living, which is not so.

Now, go back and look at how King Jesus is God. God always existed. Jesus referred to Himself as I AM in John 8:58, saying He placed Himself on the same level as the God mentioned in Exodus 3:13-15. Pay close attention. This same God existed in the days of Moses. This same God created all that is seen (Colossians 1:15-20). This same God is returning, and one day, He will place everything in order (Revelation 1:7, 1 Corinthians 15:24-28). King Jesus is more than a man. King Jesus always existed but as Yahweh (I AM). Yahweh carries that same anger that people hate to read about in the Old Testament from what they call a mean God (Leviticus 10:1-3).

What happens now? Why are you not being slain instantly for your irreverent actions? Why can you go around sinning heavily against Yahweh, blaspheming His name without being instantly dealt with? Grace. What if grace is removed? We would all deal with the potent holiness of Yahweh.

What happens in today's church gatherings? They are not dealing with the potent surging from Yahweh, for if they did, there would be many dead found lying in the churches, for sin is rampant, but due to the grace factor, there is no true gauge of Yahweh's anger. The same God you hate to read about from days of old carries the same traits, the same nature, presence, and beautiful glory. He lets you speak your ill will and judgments against how He governs. He lets you live, gives you air to breathe, while in all this time, records everything you do.

He sees how you decree and declare and call yourself a god, but He will judge you for making yourself as a god, for you cannot create anything. Just as Satan fell for wanting to be like Yahweh, so will you, for there is only one True God. Yes, God is love. But God is also holy and righteous and must be revered. If you say you serve Yahweh, you must see that He wants to give you an enduring way to live in a fallen world and the strength to endure to the end.

Please stop telling Yahweh what you want in a commanding way. Learn to pray (Matthew 6:5-14 ESV). Petition Yahweh. Call out to Him in your time of need (Proverbs 3:5-6). Yahweh is not your genie, bringing your will forward. He hears you. And you say, "If God is real and really does care, why does He allow so much painful living to take way? If God loves me, doesn't He see that I am in pain? And if He is watching me in pain, how can He be so evil to sit there and do nothing about it?"

(14) Since then we have a great high priest who has passed through the heavens, Jesus, the Son of God, let us hold fast our confession. (15) For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but one who in every respect has been tempted as we are, yet without sin. (16) Let us then with confidence draw near to the throne of grace, that we may receive mercy and find grace to help in time of need.

—Hebrews 4:14-16 ESV

YAHWEH IS SPEAKING:

I want to speak now, servant. People do not know how to deal with painful ways from the nature of seeing it My way. They look at death as the ending when within My view, one in Christ comes home (2 Corinthians 5:6-8). Death to a true Kingdom citizen brings full healing. I reveal love differently than humans would. If I love My Son, would I allow Him to be killed? I knew there needed to be a Perfect Sacrifice for sinful living, a pure way to bring reconciliation between God and man. And I knew that King Jesus would rise from the dead. I already knew how the whole story would go.

It's not that I don't have power to overrule all actions on Earth, stop evil ones, or prevent bad things from happening. What if I told you that I see the ending and can look into eternity? What if I told you that I know of those who will take in My free salvation plan? People think that just because I already know would inherently remove free will. But what if there are both? What if both opposing church sides have partially correct answers? What if I do turn the heart of a human king any way I would will?

What if I also say to call upon the name of the Lord, and you will be saved? What if I say to go and share the Gospel? What's the point of that? Because they have to hear it. The Gospel must come. Look at how King Jesus preached. Was it just given to one? Weren't seeds pushed out all over? What if I am already building mansions? What if I say that there is a preparation taking place for those who are coming home to be with Me? This natural world will one day be no more. I can reshape human clay. I can rewrite My will. I can bring a new way, and I will!

One day, all tears will be wiped away. But these promises are for My children. All those who say they are Christian will not spend eternity with Me in My presence under this placement. Calling yourself one of Mine is not a guarantee. Your actual spiritual fruit (your way of living) must show that you are. You cannot contradict My nature and follow Satan's way and say that we walk together. You cannot worship Satan and Yahweh. Stand for one or the other.

THE GREAT HOLY SPIRIT IS SPEAKING DIRECTLY:

I reveal the real truth, not what the people say is their way of viewing details. Yahweh has spoken. I am here on the earth and within every true Kingdom citizen, but can I keep you from sinning? No human leads a sinless life, for all sin and all fall short of the glory of God (Romans 3:21-26). Why would Yahweh be within you, a follower of Christ? To lead you and guide you into all truth (John 14:1-31).

KING JESUS SEALS IT:

I will show more of My will in the coming season.

GOOD NEWS MESSAGE

Note: King Jesus, a Member of the Godhead, referenced Himself as I AM in John 8:58.

Jesus is alive. Jesus died and rose again. Jesus is coming back. Jesus is the only way to Heaven. Jesus saves. Jesus is able to do everything, as mentioned in Luke 4. Jesus is King, and He has a Kingdom. The only way into this Kingdom is to be born again.

Jesus died on the cross and took every sin upon His body. By His stripes, we are healed. Jesus suffered greatly for us all so we could spend eternity with Him forever. God loved the world so much that He sent His Son, Jesus, to die in our place. God knew that we couldn't pay the price. The price was great, and we could never meet God's standards. That's why Jesus came.

Jesus is the Word made flesh. Jesus became a human being. Jesus walked this earth and experienced every form of pain and rejection upon Himself. He was rejected and despised. No one wanted to look upon Him, yet He did a great thing for us: He reconciled us to the Father.

Because of what Jesus did, we no longer have to be separated from God. Jesus died so we could have fellowship with the Father. Jesus died so that we could have life. Through Jesus, we have eternal life. Through Jesus, we have forgiveness of sin. Those who believe in Jesus will never really die because Jesus is the One who gives life. Jesus gives life to all who believe in Him. And that eternal life begins the moment you receive Him into your heart.

You don't have to do good works or deeds to get into Heaven. All you have to do is believe in Jesus. Call upon His name. Ask Him to save you. Ask Him to deliver you. He is here. His Spirit is here to help you. Call upon the name of the Lord. Call upon Jesus, and you will be saved.

If you confess with your mouth that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. You will have eternal life. You will become a child of God, a citizen in God's Kingdom. God's Kingdom is eternal. God's Kingdom is here now and is available to all who receive Jesus as Lord and Savior. Jesus is the only way to Heaven. There is no other name under Heaven by which we can be saved.

One day, Jesus will return. He is coming back again. And one day, He will rule and reign from this earth. This message is not to scare you, dear one. This message is to let you know that time is short, and Christ's return is soon. Jesus will return again. I say "again" because He came once as a baby, but when He comes the second time, He will come as Conquering King.

Now is the time to be ready, dear friend. Now is the time to listen. Now is the time. Don't harden your heart. Don't rebel against God. Today is the day of salvation. Take a moment right now and yield yourself to the Lord. Give Him your life. Surrender yourself to Him. He is here for you today. Allow Him to do the deep work of healing—healing your heart and cleansing you from all sin. He is able. He is here. Let's pray together:

Dear Jesus, I ask You to forgive me of all of my sins. I ask You to save me. I have turned my back on You, but now I come to You. Please cleanse me from all unrighteousness. Please heal me. Please heal me in every area of my life. Most importantly, please come to live within me. I want to know You. I want to have a relationship with You. I am Yours. I am Yours forever, my God, my King, and I choose to serve You for the rest of my days. Thank You, Lord, for dying for me and for saving me. I receive all that You have for me. I look forward to being with You forever. Amen.

Dear brothers and sisters, now that you have prayed this prayer and received Jesus into your heart, by faith, you are a new creation in Christ. You are no longer the same. You are no longer that person you were a few minutes ago. Jesus is now in your heart. What's wonderful is that His Spirit is with you. Yes, the Holy Spirit is with you. He will lead and guide you, showing you the way through His truth that comes from God.

Now, there are a few things that you must do: Regularly read the Word of God. Get a Bible and begin in the Book of John. Read and study the Word of God because that will transform your mind. Another thing: spend time praying to God every day. Learn to listen, as well. This is fellowship. This is how you learn to hear His voice—by spending time with Him. He wants to talk to you, so you must learn to listen too.

Stay away from those things that dishonor Christ. Ask the Holy Spirit to help you find a place where you can learn more about Jesus.

I am so glad we had this time together. I am so glad you gave your life to the Lord. You will never be the same. Grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

WHAT JESUS CAME TO DO

(18) "The Spirit of the LORD is upon Me, because He has anointed Me to preach the gospel to the poor; He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind, to set at liberty those who are oppressed; (19) to proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD."

—Luke 4:18-19 NKJV

From those Scriptures, we learn that Jesus came to:

- preach the Gospel to the poor
- heal the brokenhearted
- proclaim liberty to the captives
- give recovery of sight to the blind
- set at liberty those who are oppressed
- proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord

Let's talk about each point mentioned.

1 – JESUS CAME TO PREACH THE GOSPEL TO THE POOR

- It's concerning becoming an heir of God and a joint heir with Christ.
- It also means to be born again.
- The good news is that you could inherit so much as a child of God, a citizen of God's Kingdom.
- God does not pay by earthly standards; He pays by Kingdom standards. But the only way to benefit from the Kingdom is to become a part of the Kingdom.
- This is true riches: being a part of the Kingdom, being a citizen of God's Kingdom.

- The Kingdom is supernatural, and a lot of what happens in the supernatural manifests in the natural.
- It's the same thing with sowing and reaping: People want to be blessed, yet they disobey God's laws; they are interconnected.
- Physically giving your tithes and offerings keeps you from being cursed.

Malachi 3:8-12 NKJV says,

(8) "Will a man rob God?

Yet you have robbed Me!

But you say,

'In what way have we robbed You?'

In tithes and offerings.

(9) You are cursed with a curse,

For you have robbed Me,

Even this whole nation.

(10) Bring all the tithes into the storehouse,

That there may be food in My house,

And try Me now in this,"

Says the Lord of hosts,

"If I will not open for you the windows of heaven

And pour out for you such blessing

That there will not be room enough to receive it.

(11) "And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes,

So that he will not destroy the fruit of your ground,

Nor shall the vine fail to bear fruit for you in the field,"

Says the Lord of hosts;

(12) "And all nations will call you blessed,

For you will be a delightful land,"

Says the Lord of hosts.

...

A note from Yahweh after the document came forward.

December 5, 2024

9:16 p.m.

YAHWEH SAYS IT:

There will be a longing for many healing rooms with Yahweh pushing great power, and to maintain these healing rooms, Yahweh will request a separate gift not under the old covenant but a new way. And this gift will be a tithe of your income if you use the healing room. Not for the Church way but for the Kingdom plan of a healing room getting set up is the tithe plan in this document.

- God is a covenant God, and He cannot go against His own law. This is how the natural and the supernatural become interconnected.
- It's the same thing when taking communion: You physically put the bread in your mouth and drink the wine, yet if your heart is not right and there's sin in your life, it could lead to sickness, or as mentioned, death.
- The same is the other way: If you stand before Jesus to commune with Him and remember Him through communion with clean hands and a pure heart, you could receive great healing.
- Do you understand how the natural and the supernatural are interconnected like this? This is why faith is shown by works.

James 2:14-20 NLT says,

(14) What good is it, dear brothers and sisters, if you say you have faith but don't show it by your actions? Can that kind of faith save anyone? (15) Suppose you see a brother or sister who has no food or clothing, (16) and you say, "Good-bye and have a good day; stay warm and eat well"—but then you don't give that person any food or clothing. What good does that do? (17) So you see, faith by itself isn't enough. Unless it produces good deeds, it is dead and useless. (18) Now someone may argue, "Some people have faith; others have good deeds." But I say, "How can you show me your faith if you don't have good deeds? I will show you my faith by my good deeds." (19) You say you have faith, for you believe that there is one God. Good for you! Even the demons believe this, and they tremble in terror. (20) How foolish! Can't you see that faith without good deeds is useless?

James 2:26 NLT says,

Just as the body is dead without breath, so also faith is dead without good works.

- This is the same for those who are poor: You must rely on Jesus for healing, for wealth, for full resources, because there are no limits in God's Kingdom.
- God owns everything in His Kingdom, and for the poor to have access to that, they must come into the Kingdom. You must be born again.

2 – JESUS CAME TO HEAL THE BROKENHEARTED

Jesus said in John 16:33 NLT, "I have told you all this so that you may have peace in Me. Here on earth you will have many trials and sorrows. But take heart, because I have overcome the world."

- Take heart. Jesus overcame the world.
- Those of you who are in Jesus do not have to let your circumstances overwhelm you.
- When the storms of life come, Jesus is the peace that sustains you.
- You don't have to live in your pains or sorrows because the joy of the Lord is your strength.
- Through Jesus, you can do all things.

Concerning Jesus, Isaiah 53:5 NLT says,

But He was pierced for our rebellion, crushed for our sins. He was beaten so we could be whole. He was whipped so we could be healed.

- Jesus can bring full healing to body, soul, and spirit.
- You don't have to experience any type of woundedness continually because God's power is able to break the cycle.
- God's power is able to bring healing to the heart from past wounds.
- This is restoration—the healing of the heart that comes from Jesus.

Jesus said in John 7:38 NLT, "Anyone who believes in Me may come and drink! For the Scriptures declare, 'Rivers of living water will flow from his heart.'"

- Jesus removes the pain of rejection and fills the heart with His love, with His Spirit.
- Jesus is able to fix, mend, restore, and make new.
- This is the new heart that Jesus wants to give to those who come to Him.
- This is where you see Jesus as your First Love, where there is intimacy, where you and Jesus are one.

From a partial reading of Jeremiah 31:3 NIV, the Lord says, "... 'I have loved you with an everlasting love; I have drawn you with unfailing kindness.'"

3 – JESUS CAME TO PROCLAIM LIBERTY TO THE CAPTIVES

- Anybody who is in sin is a slave to sin.

From John 8:34-36 NLT:

(34) Jesus replied, "I tell you the truth, everyone who sins is a slave of sin.

(35) A slave is not a permanent member of the family, but a son is part of the family forever. (36) So if the Son sets you free, you are truly free.

- Those who are in bondage to sin are also held captive by the sinful nature, where they walk in the flesh and not in the Spirit. This is where Satan has a grip on you, where you are in various addictions.
- Only the power of Jesus can set you free.
- People can only be free through Jesus, not from doing a ritual. It has to be broken in the spirit realm because that is what is bringing the bondage.
- Those who are not in Christ are already captive to sin, and you cannot be free unless you receive Jesus into your heart as Lord and Savior.
- Only the power of Jesus—the Spirit of Christ—can break off demonic strongholds. It's not possible any other way because only God's Spirit is greater than all other spirits.
- Jesus created all spirits, and at the name of Jesus, all created beings must bow.
- This is where true freedom comes in—through Jesus Christ, by His Spirit.

Romans 8:1-2 NLT says,

(1) So now there is no condemnation for those who belong to Christ Jesus.

(2) And because you belong to Him, the power of the life-giving Spirit has freed you from the power of sin that leads to death.

4 – JESUS CAME TO GIVE RECOVERY OF SIGHT TO THE BLIND

- The blind are those who are being led by their souls; they have not been spiritually born again.
- This is where you rely on your own knowledge to understand, and you try to discern spiritual things with the natural mind.
- This is where you try to discern the Word with your natural mind as well. You are not gaining God's thoughts; you do not hear from Jesus; you are not connected.

First Corinthians 2:11-14 NLT says,

(11) No one can know a person's thoughts except that person's own spirit, and no one can know God's thoughts except God's own Spirit. (12) And we have received God's Spirit (not the world's spirit), so we can know the wonderful things God has freely given us. (13) When we tell you these things, we do not use words that come from human wisdom. Instead, we speak words given to us by the Spirit, using the Spirit's words to explain spiritual truths. (14) But people who aren't spiritual can't receive these truths from God's Spirit. It all sounds foolish to them and they can't understand it, for only those who are spiritual can understand what the Spirit means.

In John 15:5 NLT, Jesus said,

"Yes, I am the Vine; you are the branches. Those who remain in Me, and I in them, will produce much fruit. For apart from Me you can do nothing."

- You are living a lie if you believe you can see, and you are not born again.

From John 9:39 AMP,

Then Jesus said, "I came into this world for judgment [to separate those who believe in Me from those who reject Me—to declare judgment on those who choose to be separated from God], so that the sightless would see, and those who see would become blind."

- You cannot see anything of eternal value if you are spiritually dead.
- To see, you must be born again.

Jesus said in John 3:3 NLT, "...I tell you the truth, unless you are born again, you cannot see the Kingdom of God."

5 – JESUS CAME TO SET AT LIBERTY THOSE WHO ARE OPPRESSED

- You are under various curses when you no longer have to be.
- Jesus came to set you free from the yoke of the enemy. His yoke is easy, and His burden is light.
- You live under clouds of despair and hopelessness, but you no longer have to if you come to Jesus.
- You look for peace everywhere else when you can come to Jesus for peace. You look for satisfaction from worldly pleasures, yet you are still miserable. It's because only Jesus can fill the void.
- God's eternal life is the hope that you need.

Jesus said in John 10:10 NCV, "A thief comes to steal and kill and destroy, but I came to give life—life in all its fullness."

Jesus also said, "I am leaving you with a gift—peace of mind and heart. And the peace I give is a gift the world cannot give. So don't be troubled or afraid" (John 14:27 NLT).

- God's Kingdom operates differently than the world's system.
- You can move in freedom from oppression in God's Kingdom than under the world's system.
- God's Kingdom is not one of bondage and oppression.

Romans 14:17 NLT says, "For the Kingdom of God is not a matter of what we eat or drink, but of living a life of goodness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit."

- God's Spirit gives life.
- There is liberty in Jesus through His Spirit. And you can experience this freedom that He offers when you believe in Jesus.
- Even when things "come down on you" in the natural realm, you don't have to despair because Jesus is with you. His Spirit will lead you.

6 – JESUS CAME TO PROCLAIM THE ACCEPTABLE YEAR OF THE LORD

- Jesus came so that all may live.

John 3:16-17 NLT says,

(16) "For this is how God loved the world: He gave His one and only Son, so that everyone who believes in Him will not perish but have eternal life.

(17) God sent His Son into the world not to judge the world, but to save the world through Him."

- Those who believe in Jesus will never really die.
- Those who believe in Jesus will receive eternal life.

Jesus said in John 11:25-26 NASB, "(25) ...I am the resurrection and the life; the one who believes in Me will live, even if he dies, (26) and everyone who lives and believes in Me will never die. Do you believe this?"

- Those who believe in Jesus will be reconciled back to the Father.

Colossians 1:19-20 NLT says, "For God in all His fullness was pleased to live in Christ, and through Him God reconciled everything to Himself. He made peace with everything in Heaven and on Earth by means of Christ's blood on the cross."

Jesus said, "(39) You search the Scriptures because you think they give you eternal life. But the Scriptures point to Me! (40) Yet you refuse to come to Me to receive this life" (John 5:39-40 NLT).

- Those who believe in Jesus will be able to see the Kingdom of Heaven.
- Those who believe in Jesus will have everything the Father has offered to those who are His children.
- Eternal life begins now. Eternal life begins now while on Earth for all those who receive Jesus into their hearts as Lord and Savior.
- This is the Good News! Jesus came so that all may have life.
- God's kind of life is eternal life.
- Those of you who are in Jesus will live forever; you are citizens of Heaven.
- This is the Good News—that salvation is available to all who believe in Jesus, God's Son.
- Salvation is available now.

Romans 10:9-10 NLT says,

(9) If you openly declare that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. (10) For it is by believing in your heart that you are made right with God, and it is by openly declaring your faith that you are saved.

- The Kingdom of Heaven is available now, and if anyone wants to come into this Kingdom, Jesus is the way you must go. Jesus is the only Way. There are no exceptions.

Jesus said, "... 'I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life. No one can come to the Father except through Me'" (John 14:6 NLT).

- It was by His blood. His blood made it possible. Without the shedding of blood, there is no remission for sin. But Jesus paid the price.

Hebrews 9:11-14 NCV tells us:

(11) But when Christ came as the high priest of the good things we now have, He entered the greater and more perfect tent. It is not made by humans and does not belong to this world. (12) Christ entered the Most Holy Place only once—and for all time. He did not take with Him the blood of goats and calves. His sacrifice was His own blood, and by it He set us free from sin forever. (13) The blood of goats and bulls and the ashes of a cow are sprinkled on the people who are unclean, and this makes their bodies clean again. (14) How much more is done by the blood of Christ. He offered Himself through the eternal Spirit as a perfect sacrifice to God. His blood will make our consciences pure from useless acts so we may serve the living God.

- And this is the Good News: The price is paid in full, and eternal life is available to all who receive Jesus.

Romans 3:22-31 NLT says,

(22) We are made right with God by placing our faith in Jesus Christ. And this is true for everyone who believes, no matter who we are. (23) For everyone has sinned; we all fall short of God's glorious standard. (24) Yet God, in His grace, freely makes us right in His sight. He did this through Christ Jesus when He freed us from the penalty for our sins. (25) For God presented Jesus as the sacrifice for sin. People are made right with God when they believe that Jesus sacrificed His life, shedding His blood. This sacrifice shows that God was being fair when He held back and did not punish those who sinned in times past, (26) for He was looking ahead and including them in what He would do in this present time. God did this to demonstrate His righteousness, for He Himself is fair and just, and He makes sinners right in His sight when they believe in Jesus. (27) Can we boast, then, that we have done anything to be accepted by God? No, because our acquittal is not based on obeying the law. It is based on faith. (28) So we are made right with God through faith and not by obeying the law. (29) After all, is God the God of the Jews only? Isn't He also the God of the Gentiles? Of course He is. (30) There is only one God, and He makes people right with Himself only by faith, whether they are Jews or Gentiles. (31) Well then, if we emphasize faith, does this mean that we can forget about the law? Of course not! In fact, only when we have faith do we truly fulfill the law.

I want to give you an opportunity to give your heart to the Lord, to become a child of God, a citizen in God's Kingdom. Take a moment right now and yield yourself to the Lord.

Allow Him to do the deep work of healing—healing your heart and cleaning you from all sin. Let's pray together.

Dear Jesus. I ask You to forgive me of all of my sins. I ask You to save me. I have turned my back on You, but now I come to You. Please cleanse me from all unrighteousness. Please heal me. Please heal me in every area of my life. Most importantly, please come to live within me. I want to know You. I want to have a relationship with You. I am Yours. I am Yours forever, my God, my King, and I choose to serve You for the rest of my days. Thank You, Lord, for dying for me and for saving me. I receive all that You have for me. I look forward to being with You forever. Amen.

Dear brothers and sisters, now that you have prayed this prayer and received Jesus into your heart, by faith, you are now a new creation in Christ. You are no longer the same. You are no longer that person you were a few minutes ago; Jesus is now in your heart. What's wonderful is that His Spirit is with you. Yes, the Holy Spirit is with you. He will lead you and guide you, showing you the way through His truth that comes from God. Please share what you have learned today with others. Tell them of God's Good News—what Jesus came to do, as mentioned in Luke 4:18-19. Grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

AN EXTRA NOTE: TITHES AND OFFERINGS

We are no longer under the Law. But let's take a moment to note how giving an offering or a tithe can be seen to be how a person honored Yahweh. From Abel's offering (ref. Genesis 4:3-4), Jacob's verbal tithe vow (ref. Genesis 28:20-22), even to Abraham through covenants in Yahweh's service (prophet covenant: Genesis 20; friendship covenant: Genesis 18). Also, review Hebrews 7:1-28 to see how Christ is our High Priest.

Throughout Scripture, to honor Yahweh was often manifested through a substance of giving.

(6) Remember this—a farmer who plants only a few seeds will get a small crop. But the one who plants generously will get a generous crop. (7) You must each decide in your heart how much to give. And don't give reluctantly or in response to pressure. "For God loves a person who gives cheerfully."

—2 Corinthians 9:6-7 NLT

But in the Church era, only the standing of giving an offering is required. But an individual can give a tithe vow and not be under the Law. Give how Yahweh says to, and stay away from attempting to gain wealth, health, and a version of prosperity based on the amount given.

YAHWEH SAYS:

Servant, was Abraham's giving to Melchizedek given in the form of money, or was it a tenth of all, including his spoil? Understanding giving is where the people have confusion. King Jesus is the High Priest. Give ten percent or more of all, including time.

(1) For this Melchizedek, king of Salem, priest of the Most High God, met Abraham as he returned from the slaughter of the kings and blessed him, (2) and Abraham gave him a tenth of all [the spoil]. He is, first of all, by the translation of his name, king of righteousness, and then he is also king of Salem, which means king of peace.

—Hebrews 7:1-2 AMP

YAHWEH CONTINUES:

It's not just about money; it's about communion.

(23) The [former successive line of] priests, on the one hand, existed in greater numbers because they were each prevented by death from continuing [perpetually in office]; (24) but, on the other hand, Jesus holds His priesthood permanently and without change, because He lives on forever. (25) Therefore He is able also to save forever (completely, perfectly, for eternity) those who come to God through Him, since He always lives to intercede and intervene on their behalf [with God].

(26) It was fitting for us to have such a High Priest [perfectly adapted to our needs], holy, blameless, unstained [by sin], separated from sinners and exalted higher than the heavens; (27) who has no day by day need, like those high priests, to offer sacrifices, first of all for his own [personal] sins and then for those of the people, because He [met all the requirements and] did this once for all when He offered up Himself [as a willing sacrifice]. (28) For the Law appoints men as high priests who are weak [frail, sinful, dying men], but the word of the oath [of God], which came after [the institution of] the Law, permanently appoints [as priest] a Son who has been made perfect forever.

—Hebrews 7:23-28 AMP

Part Four

ABOUT SUSANNA

THE FIRST TIME I HEARD YAHWEH

SEERSGATE IS LEADING:

I remember the first time I heard the voice of the Great Holy Spirit. I was a young teenager, attending a church service at a sister church. The church service was going just like any way of services, and I honestly did not think there would be any hearing in spiritual details.

In my teenage years, we would go where a parent made us go and would be there to hold up the church seat, not to hope for supernatural adventures. I craved a real encounter with Yahweh from a young age, but there was nothing new, just the same ways in tradition. And it was in my heart that maybe this is what church is.

While listening to the lady preacher, there was an interruption. It seemed as if someone came and whispered in my ear. But I did not have to tell a person to speak louder over the preacher or her church worship. And there were no humans near, standing over me, saying anything directly to me. So, I just ignored the Person speaking. I did not know what God would sound like, and the Voice wanted me to do a task without proof of the actual plan being real.

“Go over there to the pastor and tell her that I heard her. I will give her the plan that she wants to go forward with.”

I thought, there is no way I am going over to tell a preacher, who would seem untouchable to a little teenager such as me, that I heard something.

“Tell her that We can feel her pain and that I will make it all better.”

I heard that request from the invisible Person and took a long look at the seemingly happy preacher. I sat there and thought of how I could not feel her pain. I saw her appearing so happy and filled with praise. This Voice would stay, prodding, needing me to give the message.

But what message would I give from an invisible Person? Can Yahweh see humans in their most transparent way, even with fake smiles and happy pretending? Can Yahweh know the heart of a person?

The Voice would not stop. I ignored what I heard and sat right there.

“I’m still here. We are telling you a real message. Just be obedient.”

The frustration of not getting the Voice to leave was overwhelming. I was arguing with Him, staring at the preacher, seeing that His message contradicted her demeanor.

I walked over to the preacher when there was an opportunity. And I told her:

“I was told to tell you this. God said, He heard your prayers, and He sees your pain. Everything will be okay.”

Suddenly, she started shouting hysterically. The pastor was already a loud, boisterous person; I did not think she could get any louder. I hoped she kept what I said a private way, but, yes, that did not happen. She raised her head after taking an in-depth view of how I stared at her and said, “God, I’ve been waiting. Thank You for giving me the answer!” And then she hugged me and went on with her worship service.

I went back to my seat, puzzled, confused. I wondered how many times Yahweh would actually say anything, and I would ignore Him. Over the thirty years since that first activation detail, I have given others their messages that were not always received. And I have learned that every young prophet must know God's will and stand with Him. Learn to wait on the way of the Great Holy Spirit. Do not assume He says anything. Take a moment to listen; active hearing. Do this daily.

Prayer is not the part of bowing your head and closing your eyes. Prayer is to meet with Yahweh. This action is prayer, praying without ceasing:

(16) Rejoice always, (17) pray without ceasing, (18) give thanks in all circumstances; for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus for you.

—1 Thessalonians 5:16-18 ESV

But do not be upset if you are not able to hear Yahweh as those in Scripture. I have learned that prophets tend to hear Yahweh's voice a certain way so that the message will go out with accuracy. Not the gift of prophecy I refer to but of office work as a prophet of Yahweh.

But know that you can get clear instructions through the Word of Yahweh!

And this is how I talk with Yahweh in the store, at home, and while running errands. I speak to Yahweh the same way He engaged me those decades ago in a small church in Virginia. And I am still learning to repeat what He says concerning a will and not include my opinion.

Give prayer a try. Start by sharing your thoughts, petitions, and real feelings with King Jesus. Honor Him and give Him authentic worship—transparent communion. Actively engage King Jesus. You may not hear Yahweh the same way others do but know that Yahweh loves you and wants to hear from you.

AUTOMATIC WRITING VERSUS CONVERSATIONS

May 2, 2024

2:08 p.m.

SEERSGATE BEGINS:

I want to help you understand how I engage Yahweh. When I talk with Yahweh, we converse as if sitting beside each other. He is spirit, yet He speaks as if He were sitting in the room with me. Yahweh says words and tells me what to put on paper, and He gives markers (start and end placements) as to when a message begins and ends versus when I write down entries from general conversations.

When I talk with Yahweh, He doesn't control my body or take away my thoughts and processing. I can ask Yahweh questions, and Yahweh will give His thoughts.

Some say they hear from Yahweh when, in actuality, they use a ritual known as Automatic Writing, which involves using demons to gain any spiritual gauging. Automatic writing reveals itself when a person is dictating a plan or writing down words, and a demon spirit is given permission to take over and cause the writer to lose free will, empty their mind, or blank out. This demon spirit can make a person unaware of their surroundings and unable to recall what they hear or write.

Sometimes, when a demon takes over in automatic writing, it can also let the person remain aware of their surroundings, but it takes over the writer's hand, moves it for them, and writes down words on paper. Those who use automatic writing say it feels like a "force" is moving their hand for them.

But Yahweh does not engage me in this manner of taking over my way. Yahweh does not take over the functions of my hand or mind when conversing with Him. I retain the use of my hand and remain aware of my surroundings, and we converse with active thinking and reasoning. Yahweh speaks to me as if He sits next to me. Yahweh trained me this way since I was a young teenager. Over the years, off and on, He spoke, but later, after entering the training plan for the spiritual cave, Yahweh gave longer talks and engaged in more profound ways of yielding the spirit realm for me to adjust to.

Now in this way of preparation for world-level work, Yahweh speaks to me in the daytime and evening, through visions and dreams, while running errands or conversing with others. Yahweh does not wait for me to play "soaking/worship music" or get in a specific "space of quiet and separation." Yahweh doesn't make me speak louder or close my eyes when relaying His will. Due to the covenant work and the message that He places within me to give, we converse back and forth in this way of active engagement in real-time, having regular conversations.

Yahweh sometimes pauses while He says His will so that I can keep up. Since Yahweh talks anytime, day or night, I have fallen asleep in meetings with Him, and when He wakes me, I apologize, and we continue the conversation where we left off. Yahweh brings forward this way of engagement so that there will be a surging in following through with Yahweh's plan to preach the Kingdom and prepare the world for the return of Christ. This way of engagement continues to help me complete His work through His covenant.

YAHWEH SAYS IT:

Now, let Me speak, servant. We trained a real prophet who will not be able to sit under a local church house, and due to this world-level message, you must stay in a way to hear Me in one-on-one, face-to-face meetings. And it is Yahweh who will bring proof to all Yahweh gives you to say. Yahweh can change a word given and break it down into an easier non-prophet placement so that the general reader will know what Yahweh says.

This way of talking with Yahweh is not normal. You have a calling that requires this way of engagement. The way we converse is not a common element presented to the Church because the Church carries a blanket covering that hinders hearing Yahweh engage them as if living in the days of prophets of old. The early church apostles did not operate the Church using prophet traits, but Yahweh's prophet office did not go away. And with a season of quiet, there will be that appearance as if Yahweh no longer engages or can push out prophet traits.

But Revelation isn't centered on hearing the Church people. Revelation is a Book of prophet placement, bringing major judgments upon the earth. And there is a power placement of how judgments will pour out that requires an active office in prophet traits from Yahweh.

MY TESTIMONY

INTRO NOTE

I am trained as a prophet of old to deal with Yahweh as if in an Old Testament way. The books of 1 and 2 Kings give examples of how those prophets dealt with Yahweh without the sugarcoating and the soft fluffy words of affirmation every moment. When I first started training in a more class-like setting, Yahweh more often used phrases like “you can do it,” “don’t get weary,” “I am with you,” “you are My daughter,” and so on. Once the training shifted into the Cave training of hidden away and learning to deal with rejection, Yahweh set certain restrictions in place to not take Yahweh lightly and be too comfortable.

Then Yahweh started calling me “servant.” At first, I was so upset and offended because I thought that that meant I was worth nothing. But then, He made me see that He shifted me from just being a daughter in the Kingdom to an office official who would receive tasks and assignments on official orders from the King. It’s similar to a family situation: King Jesus was the Son of God on Earth, and His natural mother (Mary) had to see Him as the Son of God, not just her son who came out of her womb. And Mary would not be able to attain eternal life if she could not take in King Jesus as the Great God I AM.

So, when Yahweh deals with me, He gives me difficult lessons and greater levels of responsibility in His Kingdom work. From battle training to spiritual warfare and studies on engagement, He gives harsh training to prepare me for whatever may come. He doesn’t want me unprepared. Cuddling me will not prepare me to deal with any warfare. Just as the general in the military should carry specific disciplines and receive secrets or harsher punishments than a new military member would, Yahweh takes me through stages of training that make it appear that He is a mean God. In all actuality, because of the training level, restrictions, and establishment of discipline, Yahweh trusts me to do what He says and pushes greater surgings from Him that are dangerous to the regular untrained and undisciplined Christian.

THE TESTIMONY

The abuse started at a very young age. I was no more than the age of six when the demon entered me. This demon would be the first of many due to how I would live. The first man to touch me in a plan that led to a demon living within did not care that I was a young child. My parents were Christians, yet I could not say what had happened. The details of my teenage years were no different. I endured physical, sexual, and emotional abuse, and I used school activities to hide the pain. The amazing detail that I will speak about is that the Great Holy Spirit was with me during these circumstances. Yahweh would call out to me through various situations. He would allow me to see King Jesus in visions.

I had a hunger for God even though life was hard. I knew there was more than living life like this, but I didn't know what I needed to do to connect with the Creator of the world. Deep within, I thought I wasn't good enough for what God would want me to do. I thought He would not want me due to being mistreated and abused. I just didn't know who would understand this without judging me. I needed love, but I didn't know what this love would look like even if it were to come.

I started to lose my Christian way of living, and this way of sinful living took a deep hold within. I could not tell of this way of living due to not wanting others to reject me. I became addicted to pornography and had stronger cravings for sexual details that I will not mention. There were many cravings within I could not handle to the point where I began to act on them. I became a predator, wanting to take and control all who would dare try to intimidate me. I did not want to be hurt anymore, so I used my body or the words I would say as a weapon to manipulate—to get what I wanted at that moment.

I didn't care about the problems I caused. I had filled my life with occultic things and didn't know it. I filled my life with perversion and excused it as a way to pursue what I craved. I did my best in my fleshly way of living to make me believe I was worth something. The price was high as the dreams that I pursued were harder to reach. I was on a path of death and didn't think it could happen to me because I once knew King Jesus. I thought He would understand.

I didn't know that Yahweh would still love me, where He would think I was worth something even when I lived apart from Him. I knew of the stories from the Bible. I knew of the "Jesus Loves Me" songs, but this was different in my heart. I needed true power from God Himself to shake me to the core of my being, and this is what He would do in His sovereign way:

Through a dream, the Lord spoke and gave me a great warning of my life if I chose to stay on the way of living that I entertained. He gave me a choice at that time, yet I still think that I would not have embraced His will if He didn't come and bring the second dream, which He did. The dreams felt like reality. I was terrified of the warnings and yet grateful to Yahweh for them.

Now, I grew up hoping the love I had for God would overturn the memories from what I endured as a child, but it did not. I journaled my hopes and frustrations. In transparency, I found it easier to write my thoughts and prayers to Yahweh, and over time, I felt comfort in knowing that He listened.

Yahweh didn't leave me when I was angry or depressed. The hurt, the bitterness, the youth taken—I had to give these details to Yahweh so He could bring full healing. By the power of the Great Holy Spirit, I learned how to release the pain of those details over time.

So much has changed since that day. But Yahweh has been constant in His love. He gives tests and gauges My spiritual growth, yet He shows me times of refreshing when needed. I can always talk with Him, knowing that it doesn't matter what time of day or night. And throughout my learning, I can be sure of His purpose: We will work towards preaching the Kingdom and preparing the world for the return of Christ. There always seems like there is time. But there will one day be an ending to this living. Why not taste Yahweh's Kingdom now? He can help you in your time of painful living. And even if you have perfect friends and family with you, what are they able to protect you with? Can any other offer eternal living? Here is what my God King Jesus says:

(1) "Do not let your heart be troubled; believe in God, believe also in Me. (2) In My Father's house are many rooms; if that were not so, I would have told you, because I am going there to prepare a place for you. (3) And if I go and prepare a place for you, I am coming again and will take you to Myself, so that where I am, there you also will be. (4) And you know the way where I am going." (5) Thomas said to Him, "Lord, we do not know where You are going; how do we know the way?" (6) Jesus said to him, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father except through Me.

—John 14:1-6 NASB

Come and drink the Living Water He offers this day. If you do, there will be immediate Kingdom citizenship.

(9) If you openly declare that Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you will be saved. (10) For it is by believing in your heart that you are made right with God, and it is by openly declaring your faith that you are saved.

—Romans 10:9-10 NLT

THE PRAYER OF SALVATION

Dear Jesus, I ask You to forgive me of all of my sins. I ask You to save me. I have turned my back on You, but now I come to You. Please cleanse me from all unrighteousness. Please heal me. Please heal me in every area of my life. Most importantly, please come to live within me. I want to know You. I want to have a relationship with You. I am Yours. I am Yours forever, my God, my King, and I choose to serve You for the rest of my days. Thank You, Lord, for dying for me and for saving me. I receive all that You have for me. I look forward to being with You forever. Amen.
